

Nixon Sticks to Withdrawal Policy

(Combined Wire Services)
WASHINGTON — The Senate told President Nixon Tuesday it wants a swift U.S. exit from Indochina, regardless of what happens to South Vietnam's government.
The President in response said that his policy—which includes giving the Saigon government a fighting chance to survive—is unchanged, and anyway he does not regard the Senate's action as binding.
On a roll call of 57-42, Senators called for total and prompt withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam with only one condition: the release of all U.S. prisoners of war held by the Communists.

But Nixon's other condition for getting out—that South Vietnam be left with a chance to survive—was pointedly left out of the Senate's first official policy declaration on Vietnam since the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution.
The measure, sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, was approved as an amendment to the draft extension bill. It "urges and requests" the President—with no penalty if he does not—to negotiate release of the war prisoners and to withdraw no later than nine months after the measure is signed.

New York State's two senators split Tuesday in voting on an amendment to the draft extension bill stating it would be U.S. policy for a staged withdrawal of troops from Indochina coupled with the return of prisoners over a nine-month period.
The amendment was approved, 57-42, with Sen. Jacob K. Javits joining 11 other Republicans in favor.
Sen. James Buckley joined 31 other Republicans in voting against the amendment.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said "this is not binding legislation and the full legislative process is not concluded." He called it "the view of what 57 Senators think our view should be ... it is not the view of Congress as a whole."
"The President will of course continue the policy he has set forth—that is the policy of withdrawal of forces from Vietnam and our efforts to get the other side to enter into serious negotiations with us," Ziegler said.
If the House approves the proposal and Nixon signs it, the out-in-nine-months declaration would become official national policy, difficult for the President to sidestep.

Should the House refuse to incorporate the measure into the final version of the Selective Service Act, it would face a certain Senate filibuster that could cut off the manpower for the Vietnam war.
And if Nixon refuses to sign the draft bill with such a policy statement in it, he automatically would forfeit his right to continue conscripting men into the Army.
The Mansfield amendment was adopted after stronger measures foundered. It "urges and requests the President to begin immediate negotiations of a ceasefire in North Vietnam, as well as mutual troop withdrawals and prisoner releases over a nine-months period from the date the measure is enacted."

The withdrawals and releases would come in stages until there are no more American prisoners in enemy hands.
The House reaffirmed its stand against such proposals last week, shouting down an amendment similar to Mansfield's by voice vote and rejecting a Dec. 31 pullout date 254 to 158.
In Paris, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations to the peace talks had no immediate comment on the Senate vote.

The long-standing Communist position has been that discussions on the release of U.S. prisoners could begin only after the United States agrees to a pullout by a reasonable date.
Mansfield said his measure passed even though many senators were reluctant to invade the authority the President claims in time of war.
Inclusion of end-of-the-war sentiment in the draft bill casts more doubt on whether it can be passed before the present

Selective Service law expires midnight June 30.
Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Alan Cranston, D-Calif., leaders of a filibuster against the draft bill, have predicted flatly they have the votes to beat back any more to shut off debate before the draft law expires.
The Senate set a vote late today on a leadership move to limit debate. A two-thirds vote is required.
Mansfield and his followers saw the success of his amendment as filling a national policy gap they say has existed since the Congress last year repealed the Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

President Will Release Study for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources said today President Nixon is expected to release the Pentagon study on the Vietnam war to Congress.
The sources said Republican leaders in congress made the request and President Nixon indicated he would make the study available to the proper committees of the House and Senate.
Meanwhile, it was reported that a State Department official recommended in an official memo in August 1963 that South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem be overthrown if he entered into negotiations with North Vietnam. The Chicago Sun-Times said today.

The memo, dated Aug. 30, and another dated Sept. 16 were written by Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary of state under Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the newspaper said.
The memos, plus documents from a Pentagon history of the Vietnam war, reveal "a battle over Diem's fate with the State Department urging his ouster and the Pentagon insisting that the United States stick with him," the Sun-Times said in a copyright story.

The newspaper said the Hilsman memos were declassified by President Johnson in 1968 but until now were "tightly held." It said it obtained the memos from the Citizens Commission of Inquiry into U.S. War Crimes in Vietnam.

The newspaper did not reveal the source of its information on material contained in the Pentagon documents. But James F. Hoge Jr., editor, said part of the material came from the same top-secret Pentagon report that has been published in part by The New York Times, The Washington Post and The Boston Globe.
The memos and the Pentagon documents show that the late President John F. Kennedy and his leading advisors were intimately involved in the maneuvering that led to Diem's downfall Nov. 1, 1963, the Sun-Times said.
The newspaper said Hilsman's Aug. 30 memo proposed certain U.S. responses to courses of action that Diem and his brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Nhu, might take to maintain themselves in power, the newspaper said.

Tuition Hikes Voted For County College

By JEAN F. DOLAN
STONE RIDGE
A full-time tuition hike of $75 a semester was voted by the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees Tuesday night due to "increased costs of operating the college."
The tuition increase, effective Sept. 1, will mean full-time enrollment rates of $275 for state residents and $18.50 per credit hour per semester for part-time students. Previous part-time rate was $16 per credit hour per semester.
The trustees also voted to increase the full-time tuition for non-New York State residents by $300, from $800 to $1,100 a year. Part-time tuition for out-of-state residents was raised from $32 to $37 per credit hour.
The last tuition raise for UCCC was in 1968.
The increases are subject to approval of the State University Board of Trustees which earlier this year authorized similar raises at 32 state-operated campuses.

Tuition increases for next September were previously approved at Orange, Sullivan and Dutchess Community Colleges, sister two-year colleges in the Mid-Hudson area.
The UCCC trustees reported they were raising the tuition because "the cost of operating the college has increased considerably in the last three years as a result of inflation and other mandated increases and campus expansion."
Dr. George B. Erbstein, college president, said that with the tuition being increased, the college will make every effort to advise students of financial assistance which might be available to them.
A major source of financial assistance comes in the form of awards from the State's Scholar Incentive Program. The program provides funds to all state residents who pursue full-time college study within the state.

Other financial assistance available for most students are student loans from the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation. A limited amount of money also is available for students from low income families through federally funded Educational Opportunity grants and the work study program.
In other business, UCCC board of trustees welcomed new member George Rusk Jr. of Marlboro. Raymond W. Garraghan, chairman of the board, appointed Rusk to serve on the finance committee.
The trustees voted a resolution of gratitude to Dr. Irmgard F. Karle, professor of physical science, who is leaving UCCC to accept an administrative post at City University of New York.

Should Diem and Nhu move toward North Vietnam by a gesture "such as opening of neutralization negotiations, or rumors and indirect threats of such a move," the quoted memo says, the United States should "encourage the generals to move promptly with a coup."
The documents combined, the Sun-Times said, show that Hilsman wrote the Aug. 30 memo when U.S. officials believed a military coup—or action by Diem against the military—was imminent.
All the documents show, the paper said, that from the end of August until early October, the United States struggled to decide how to keep Diem as president but get rid of Nhu.
The Sun-Times said that at a National Security Council meeting Sept. 17, 1963, it was decided to send Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor on a fact-finding mission to Vietnam.
They reported back Oct. 2, the paper said, and from that point the documents indicate there was a growing consensus at the top of the administration that it would not be possible to get rid of Nhu without also getting rid of Diem. Diem was ousted and both he and his brother died in a coup that took place in November 1963.
The Sun-Times said the documents indicate that a decision also was made at the NSC meeting to identify and neutralize alternative leadership—believed to mean the generals who were thought to oppose Diem and Nhu.

DeMartinis Win Another Round

Miss Olga Scarpetta (L) natural mother of "Baby Lenore" and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeMartino, who adopted the child one year ago, are shown as they leave the Dade County Courthouse in Miami, Fla., Tuesday after Circuit Judge Ralph O. Cullen denied a habeas corpus petition by Miss Scarpetta in the custody battle over the one-year-old. The ruling leaves the child in the custody of the adoptive parents. New York Courts ruled that Miss Scarpetta should have custody of the baby but before the child could be taken from them, the DeMartinis moved to Florida. Miss Scarpetta said she will appeal the decision. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Cawein to Be Appointed As County PR Director

By LYNN MULVANEY
KINGSTON

Daily Freeman County Editor Albert J. Cawein is expected to be named Ulster County's first public relations director in an announcement next week by County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago.
The newly created post is being established on recommendation of the Legislature's Industrial Development and Publicity Committee. The Legislature voted last month to create a publicity department, provide for a director and office help by July 1.
The proposal had been under study for several years and arose out of a desire to provide the county with professional public relations advice in order to communicate with the public as well as attract tourists, conventions and industry.

Cawein, a 15-year employee of The Freeman, joined the staff in 1955 and prior to that was Saugerties correspondent for the paper. He was named assistant city editor in 1965 and appointed county editor in 1967.
A resident of Woodland Acres, Blue Mountain, he has been an active member of his community serving on the Town of Saugerties Planning Board and as publicity director for the Miss Ulster County Pageant.
He was one of the original members of the Town of Saugerties' Planning Board and served as vice chairman and chairman. He retired from that position and still serves in an advisory capacity.
As executive secretary of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce, he was one of the originators of the Miss Saugerties Pageant which later became the Miss Ulster County Pageant. He still serves on the board of directors and is publicity director of the pageant.

Cawein is one of the founders and a charter member of Malden-West Camp Fire Company and served as the volunteer's first secretary. He is a past trustee of the vols and an honorary member of the Centerville Fire Company.
In late 1970 he was feted by the State Division of the American Cancer Society and received the Steuben Award for the "Best Single Editorial on Cancer."
He is married to the former Ruth Lilly of South Ozone Park and is the son of Mrs. Anna Cawein and the late John A. Cawein.
A member of the Kingston Newspaper Guild, he served as recording secretary in 1963-64 and treasurer in 1970.

Cite Stand Favoring Fluoridation Conservatives Drop Two GOPers

By HUGH REYNOLDS
KINGSTON

Fluoridation, one of the most controversial subjects ever to be debated in the Common Council, may come back to haunt two of its aldermen, Titus B. Sims of the 13th Ward and John L. Machione of the Second.
Both voted for fluoridation earlier this year in the Council and both had their nominations for reelection withdrawn at Tuesday night's Conservative Party convention at the Ulster County Courthouse on Wall Street.
Mrs. Lucy Freer of 59 Henry Street, a 13th Ward Conservative committeewoman and an outspoken opponent of fluoridation, the city's water supply, took the floor immediately after the entire list of Conservative candidates had been read by Billy Knowles, chairman of the nominating committee. She read a letter from Mrs. Belle Lockwood, also of Henry Street, asking that the names of Machione and Sims be dropped from the ticket because they had voted in favor of fluoridation.

Mrs. Freer contended that opposition to fluoridation was a basic tenant of the Conservative Party. Mrs. Lockwood is also a 13th Ward Conservative committeewoman. They were supported by Mrs. Edna Sperling of 170 Henry Street, another 13th Ward committeewoman.
The Conservative nomination proved crucial to Machione and Sims in 1969, providing their winning margins. Both men had been defeated in the straight Democratic-Republican voting. The Conservative vote put them over the top.
Party Chairman Bernard Singer ordered the names of Sims and Machione removed from the ticket and placed in the hands of the Committee on Lockwood, also of Henry Street, and consideration. That committee includes Singer, Edward Ashby and Mrs. Freer. Singer is also strongly opposed to fluoridation. Ashby's views on the subject were not immediately known.

The convention itself was brief, lasting about 15 minutes.

Singer, endorsed by the Republicans two weeks ago for alderman at-large, also received his party's nod for that position. Robert F. Murphy, former Kingston police chief, the Republican nominee for mayor, also received the Conservative endorsement last night.
The list of Conservative endorsed legislators includes Raymond Armater, former city alderman; William G. Davis, an incumbent legislator, Harry Kapreilian, a city industrialist, Larry Kithcart, chairman of the Kingston Recreation Commission; William Merrill, an aid to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell Jr.; Melvin Mones, an incumbent legislator, and Clarence Raichle. Raichle, Mones, Merrill, Armater and Kapreilian are Republicans. Kithcart and Davis are Democrats and Graham is an enrolled Conservative.

On the aldermanic side, the Conservatives nominated Burt Ellis in the First Ward; Brian Smith in the Third; Francis J. McCord in the Fourth; William Raliff in the Fifth; Thomas Davitt in the Seventh Ward; Thomas Joy in the Eighth; Edward Gleason in the Ninth; Percy Sutton in the 11th and Peter J. Mancuso in the 12th. Joy and Gleason are Conservatives. Joy already has the Republican endorsement. McCord, Smith (an incumbent) Raliff, Davitt and Sutton are Republicans while Mancuso (an incumbent), is a Democrat.
Candidates are yet to be chosen in the Sixth Ward, although Mrs. Freer proposed that Democrat incumbent Donald E. Quick be endorsed, and in the 10th Ward. The Committee on Vacancies will make that decision, in addition to making the decision on Sims and Machione.

WOODSTOCK VANDALISM—Investigation was underway in Woodstock today by Town Police of acts of vandalism that caused extensive damage to the front of the building at 114 Tinker Street in that township occupied by Peggy's Beauty Shop. Mrs. John Egan, of 25 Juniper Lane, owner of the property, said the post (on ground with the American flag and pole attached) was pulled out of the rock concrete base sometime late Monday night. A section of the Colonial pillar also was ripped off. Mrs. Egan also said that recently banners were damaged inside the building leading to the Geraldine Apartments. Chief William E. Waterous, who is directing the investigation, said another incident occurred over the weekend when two plate glass windows were shattered at the H. Houst & Sons, Inc., hardware store at 4 Mill Road in Woodstock. (Freeman photo by Krub)

Firemen Respond To Four Area Calls

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON — Firemen responded to four calls Tuesday after fires were reported in two buildings and two automobiles.

Police were asked to investigate the origin of fire of suspicious origin that was discovered in the doorway of the former Royal Grill at 352 Broadway at 3:58 p.m.

On arrival in response to a call, firemen found flames inside the door leading into the building. The door was forced and the blaze was quelled with pressurized water. Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Station responded in charge of Deputy Chief Glyn Southard.

At 6:09 p.m. fire units were dispatched to the Utility Platers Inc., at 412-420 Washington Avenue after fire was discovered on the roof of the one-story concrete block-frame structure owned by Burt Ellis of 65 Lucas Avenue.

Firemen found flames in the rear section of the main building of the plant. A section of the roof and ceiling had to be removed to check the course of the flames. A pump stream from Engine 1 quelled the blaze which reportedly was caused by a defective ballast in a light fixture. Eight pieces of apparatus were at the scene and firemen were in charge of Deputy Chief Harry Sills.

All units reported back in service at 8 p.m. Early in the afternoon, firemen were sent to 166 West Chestnut Street where fire occurred in a car owned and operated by Loretta McKintick of that address. The fire was out on arrival of firemen in charge of Lieutenant William Schreiber. The probable cause was a rupture in the air conditioner hose.

At 5:15 p.m. firemen responded to a call for fire in a car owned and operated by Terrance Fischer of P.O. Box 877, Port Ewen. The blaze caused by a blowback of the carburetor was extinguished with a booster hose from Engine 1. The fire occurred at Foxhall Avenue and Shufeldt Street. Deputy Chief Southard was in charge.

Bell to Attend Water Needs Parley

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-C, Woodstock) will attend the Friday, June 25, meeting of the Temporary State Commission on Water Supply Needs in Southeastern New York being held in White Plains.

Assemblyman Bell is vice chairman of the Water Supply Commission. Other area legislative members are Senator Jay P. Rollison of Dutchess and Ulster Counties and Assemblyman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-C, Orange County).

The White Plains meeting will concentrate on the water supply problems of Westchester County and its municipalities. Special attention will be focused on the anticipated increased water needs of the Cities of Yonkers and Peekskill and the villages of Scarsdale and North Tarrytown.

The commission already has conducted similar informational hearings in Suffolk, Nassau and Ulster Counties and in New York City. Further information meetings will be held in other Hudson Valley counties. Assemblyman Bell said: "Everyone takes water for granted; you open the tap and it comes. Orderly and balanced development and progress of Southeastern New York is dependent upon dramatically increasing our water supply resources and developing better delivery systems."

"Hopefully," we still have ample lead time to adequately plan for the anticipated needs of the population increase expected in Southeastern New York in the next 15 to 20 years."

Bell said that right now we have adequate supplies of good water but by 1985 we could have a severe shortage if studies are correct. "Population in the Mid-Hudson Valley is expected to almost double by 1985, that we will have to build a house for a house, a factory for a factory, and a school for a school to accommodate the increased population explosion and of course, everybody must have water," he concluded.

Stampfle Elected Head Of Uptown Businessmen

KINGSTON — Glenn A. Stampfle, manager of the J.C. Penney Company, Wall Street, was elected Tuesday night as president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association. He succeeds Stanley London who served in the post for three one-year terms. The election took place at the annual membership meeting in the Kirkland Hotel, attended by a record 110 persons.

Named as vice presidents were Charles Rider of Ulster County Savings Bank and Richard Matthews of Colonial City Carpet. Vice president and secretary is Fred Fistenburg of Happy House and Ronald Every of State of New York National Bank was elected treasurer.

City Detective Joseph Feraca, guest speaker, gave a talk to the businessmen concerning shoplifting.

Stampfle was named manager of the J.C. Penney Store in Kingston in 1968 having come from Toledo, O., where he served in the same capacity.

A graduate of Kent State University with a bachelor of science degree, he joined the company in 1953 as a salesman in Canton, O. He was successively promoted to department manager in Youngstown, O., in 1956; assistant manager in 1962 and store manager in Toledo in 1966.

A native of Akron, O., he and his wife, Dorothea, reside in Saugerties with their children.

Claim of Newburgh Senator

Stewart Field 'Welfare City'

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — A state legislator says welfare cases will be landing at the site of the former Stewart Air Force Base here rather than the cargo jets the state has announced. Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn, R-Newburgh, said in a radio interview (WPMN, Newburgh) Tuesday that the state intends to convert Stewart into a huge "welfare city" instead of a cargo jetport.

The site, along with extra acreage, will be used to house New York City's poor, he claimed.

Schermerhorn said the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, which now controls the operation of the field, could turn the property over to a state agency, such as the Urban Development Corporation, which would then build the new community.

The freshman legislator said he had no proof of his allegations but several factors had led him to his conclusion. The factors, he said, included:

— Recent authorization for the State Department of Transportation to prepare to purchase up to 11,000 acres of land around the airport west of here to serve as a "land bank" for future development by the MTA as a cargo jetport. Schermerhorn said Kennedy Airport is only 5,000 acres in size and questioned why the state would need so much more property for a Stewart jetport.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Governor Rockefeller today emphatically denied speculation by State Sen. Schermerhorn that Stewart Airfield at Newburgh could be turned into a "welfare city."

"It's just not so," the spokesman said. "There's absolutely no truth to it, whatsoever."

Big Nell On Trial

GOSHEN, N.Y. (UPI)—Nellie (Big Nell) Williams, the alleged operator of a bawdy house in Newburgh's urban renewal area, went on trial in Orange County Court Tuesday on prostitution and other charges.

A 10-man, two-woman jury was selected to hear the testimony. Two other men were chosen as alternates.

At one point in the proceedings, Mrs. Williams broke down, sobbing "I never hurt anybody in my whole life."

Her attorney, Seymour Rosenblatt of Newburgh, objected when one prospective juror, Mrs. Joan Goldsmith, acknowledged she had "heard about her (Mrs. Williams) for years and years."

Mrs. Goldsmith, a Cornwall housewife, was promptly excused by Judge Abraham Isseks.

Mrs. Williams was arrested last Nov. 29 when state police and members of the district attorney's office raided her house at 71-75 Montgomery St. in Newburgh.

The raid followed by two months reports in a newspaper detailing how the alleged brothel was scheduled to be rehabilitated under the city's urban renewal program, while a nearby church was to be torn down.

Following the published reports, city officials said that although the property was located within the urban renewal area, there were no plans to provide public funds for rehabilitation of the building.

Her attorney, earlier this month, charged that because of newspaper publicity she could not receive a fair trial in Orange County. He sought a change of venue from the Appellate Division, but was turned down.

DECLASSIFICATION ORDER—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday he had ordered the Pentagon to begin declassifying papers relating to the origins of the Vietnam War. He made the statement to newsmen during a recess in his appearance before the Senate Appropriations subcommittee. (UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL TELEPHOTO)

Congressman to Sue Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressmen prepared to sue Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird today to publicly release all 47 volumes of the Pentagon papers on the origins of the Vietnam war.

Meanwhile, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., said he still plans to try to make public a summary on war study papers he has despite a visit Tuesday by two FBI agents to find out what they are and how he got them.

Reps. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., chief architects of the 1967 Freedom of Information Act, said they would sue Laird under a provision of the act requiring any challenged agency to prove in court its withholding of information is justified.

They said Laird's announcement that he has ordered a 90-day study on declassifying as much as possible of the "History of the U.S. Decision Making Process on Vietnam Policy" will not affect their McCloskey turned the visit by two FBI agents into a mob scene by inviting newsmen and television camera crew to the meeting in his office.

He said the agents wanted to know where he got the papers and what conversations he had with Daniel Ellsberg, whom McCloskey has said gave him the papers.

McCloskey said he told the agents he got the papers from Ellsberg, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology researcher who once worked on the secret Pentagon study, but said he refused to tell them his conversations with Ellsberg.

McCloskey at first insisted on having the newsmen present but finally met privately with the agents for about 15 minutes.

McCloskey said he met Ellsberg during a panel appearance at Princeton April 19.

The allied commands reported no U.S. casualties and said South Vietnamese casualties were light. The attacks included one on the South Vietnamese Fire Base Fuller, under shelling for the fourth consecutive night.

The bases hit included U.S. outposts Alpha Four and Charlie Two and South Vietnamese bases Alpha Two, Charlie One, Bravo Two and the Dong Ha combat base on Highway No. 1.

Nearly 100 North Vietnamese regulars later carried out a ground attack against Bravo Two after a rocket barrage. The defenders broke up the assault.

To the west, Fire Base Fuller, six miles south of the DMZ, was hit by rockets for the fourth consecutive night. The Communist-held area around the base has been pounded for weeks by U.S. B52 bombers.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon said today government troops killed 26 North Vietnamese in two battles Tuesday near the DMZ. They said casualties were light among the South Vietnamese who are in the midst of a new campaign to counteract recent North Vietnamese troop build-ups.

The shellings and the new action just below the neutral zone followed a report Tuesday by the South Vietnamese general commanding government troops in the north that North Vietnamese units are moving across the DMZ in increasingly large numbers.

Three Newspapers Ordered To Hold Up on Archives

By United Press International
Three newspapers were under orders today not to publish any more of a classified Pentagon report pending further court action, but a fourth paper, the Chicago Sun-Times, printed excerpts from another secret source, a State Department report on Vietnam.

The government, in appealing rulings which gave The New York Times and Washington Post permission to publish the Pentagon report, offered a compromise Tuesday to set up a task force to study declassification of documents. The Post rejected the idea. The Times did not comment.

The Boston Globe, which published its first story on the report in Tuesday's editions, was ordered temporarily to stop further publication and to turn over all documents to the court. The Globe said it would comply with the first order and would decide today on the second.

Appeals courts in Washington and New York took the Post and Times cases under advisement and said they would rule shortly. Any ruling is expected to be appealed immediately to the Supreme Court, which is scheduled to end its current session next Monday. Temporary restraining orders against further publication remain in effect on the Times and Post.

A hearing on the Globe's case was scheduled for 10 a.m. (EDT) Friday in U.S. district court.

The Times published three articles, the Post two and the Globe one, all believed based on the same report—a 7,000-page Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in Indochina from the Truman through Johnson administrations.

Publishers — A Dim View

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — A powerful group of publishers have taken a dim view of the federal government's attempt to block publication of the Pentagon papers.

The New York State Publishers' Association met in extraordinary session here Tuesday and said the court battle to stop papers from publishing the secret Vietnam reports presented a potentially greater harm than "an isolated breach of security classifications."

The group's 11-member board of directors approved a resolution saying that it "views with alarm" the government's attempts to prevent the New York Times and other newspapers from using the material.

"The board is not insensitive to the obligations of the federal government to insure the security of the United States," the statement said, "but it submits that censorship by injunction of information, historic in nature and political in content, cannot but weaken the workings of free government."

The board said it was particularly concerned with the government's "claim or a right to deny the electorate information pertinent to evaluation of political leaders and public policies."

"If such a doctrine can be upheld, the resulting inability of the people to pass intelligent judgment on its government could only result in a travesty of democracy, and an erosion of freedom," the resolution said. "We hold that such a result would represent a deeper, more lasting injury to the United States than any resulting from an isolated breach of security classifications."

The association, representing 39 newspapers, is headed by Raymond C. Kennedy, president and publisher of the Hudson Register-Star.

Saigon Foils VC Plot To Kidnap Envoy, Wife

SAIGON (UPI)—Police said today they had foiled a Viet Cong plot to kidnap a British diplomat and his wife in a propaganda move patterned after recent kidnappings in South America and Europe.

Taiwan Pullout Key: Chou

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (UPI)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China has told three American newspapermen the United States must remove its military shield from Taiwan before normal diplomatic relations can be instituted between China and the U.S.

In a rare dinner meeting with the three American newspaper executives and their wives, Chou also said reunification of Taiwan and China could be done peacefully—but under Peking's terms.

Chou dined Monday evening at the Great Hall of the People in Peking with William Attwood, publisher of Newsday, printed here; Robert L. Keatley, Washington reporter for the Wall Street Journal; and Seymour Topping, assistant managing editor of the New York Times.

The newspapermen, in accounts published today, said Chou made it clear U.S. forces must be withdrawn from Taiwan if diplomatic relations are to be established between China and the United States. He said the United States must recognize the future of Taiwan, the base for Chiang Kai-shek Nationalist government, is an "internal affair."

He said if Taiwan returns to "the motherland," its citizens should be rewarded, not punished. Attwood's dispatch in Newsday said news of the dinner was frontpaged Tuesday in Peking newspapers, which called it a "friendly talk."

N.J.F. Mercer, first secretary for administration at the British embassy, and his wife, Rita. Mercer is a career foreign service officer from London.

Saigon police director Trang Si Tan told a news conference that 21 Viet Cong had been arrested May 29 before they were able to carry out the plot which allegedly included kidnapping and killing the mercers. The would-be kidnapers allegedly also planned to confiscate the Mercers' diplomatic car, load it with explosives and attempt to enter the gates of Independence Palace to blow up President Nguyen Van Thieu's home or failing that, to blow up national police headquarters, about a mile from central Saigon.

Britain Agrees to Terms In Entering Trade Bloc

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Britain and the European Common Market—after 10 years of talking and two French vetoes—agreed today on terms for British entry into the booming continental trading bloc.

With a pre-dawn champagne toast British negotiator Geoffrey Rippon and the foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations—France, Italy, Belgium, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg—celebrated their success in clearing the major obstacles to Britain's plan to enter the European Economic Community Jan. 1, 1973.

The agreement came at 4:30 a.m. after a 14-hour negotiating session in the gleaming Kirch Erg European Center overlooking the capital of the smallest common market member—Luxembourg.

"We have done it," Rippon said as he came down from the first-floor conference room. "It is an historic day for Europe."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, whose government under President Charles de Gaulle twice vetoed British entry in 1963 and 1967, beamed as he announced the terms of the agreements.

The final package deal agreed to between Britain and the six included New Zealand butter and cheese, financing the Market's agricultural fund, a fisheries policy, interim arrangements for consultation between now and 1973 and hill farming regulations.

"There are a number of problems still to be solved but they can be solved," Rippon said.

"There is no doubt of the successful outcome of the negotiations."

Decisions on the specific issues included: New Zealand dairy products—The Common Market agreed to allow New Zealand's exports of butter and cheese to remain as high as 71 per cent of their current levels five years after Britain attains membership.

Agricultural fund—in return for the concessions for New Zealand, Britain agreed to pay nearly three times its original offer for the Common Market's agricultural fund. It will pay 8.5 per cent of the fund the first year after joining—$297.5 million—to help keep Europe's inefficient farmers solvent. It originally had offered 3 per cent.

Medina Trial Blamed on Public Opinion

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—The legal officer who testified Tuesday that although the investigation into public opinion should not have charges Capt. Ernest Medina ordered the My Lai massacre charges would be filed against Medina, "it certainly appears" it did.

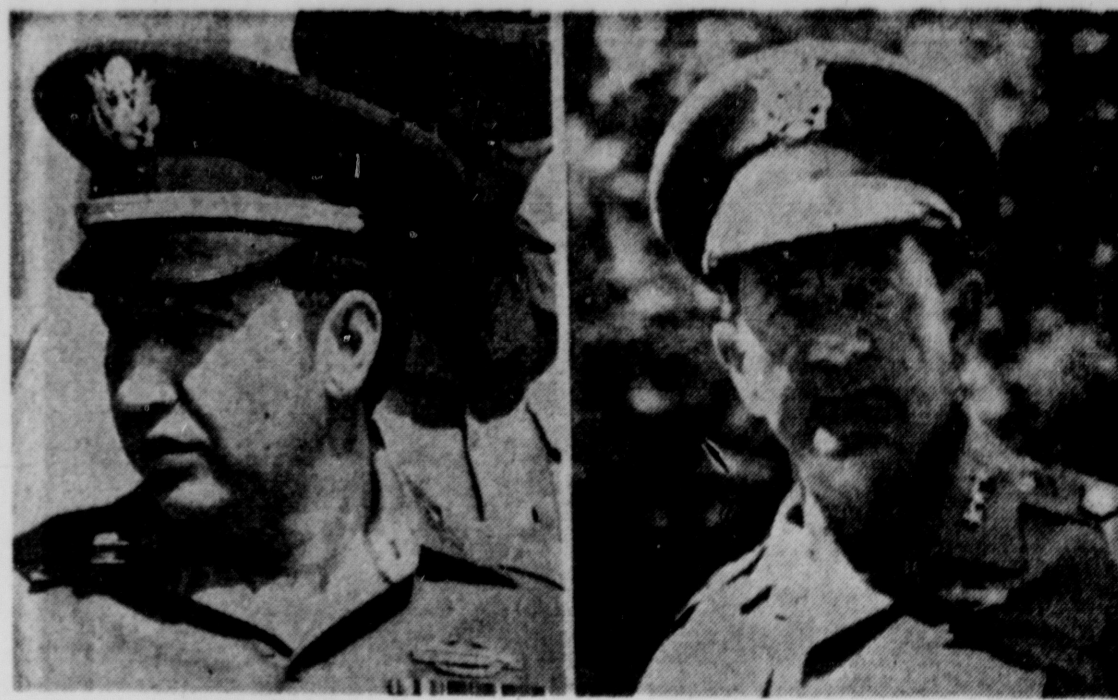

Freeman also said under questioning that it was "probable" the Army could not prove that Medina ordered a massacre.

Freeman's testimony came in the second day of hearings on a defense motion to dismiss the case against Medina on grounds of improper command influence and coercion played a role in bringing him to trial.

The 34-year-old Medina is charged with murdering—personally, and with his company—102 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. He has denied he ordered the mass slaying of civilians.

UNAWARE—Third Army Commander, Lt. Gen. Albert O'Conner, (R), who filed charges against Capt. Ernest Medina, (L), in connection with the My Lai massacre, testified at the pre trial hearing Tuesday that he was unaware of a request to delay his action until the Calley court-martial was completed. Poor Family Pay Clears One Hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A historic welfare system of guaranteed minimum incomes for poor families cleared the House Tuesday, pushed along by President Nixon, intense White House lobbying and the leaders of both parties.

Now it must clear the Senate where Finance Committee

Chairman Russell Long, D-La., is reported considering postponing action until next year.

But House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who managed the measure through the House Tuesday, said Long had promised him he would not block Senate consideration of the measure.

The President urged speedy approach, but the U.S. welfare system now is based on each state deciding eligibility and payment levels with the federal government sharing the cost.

If the bill passes Congress, poor working families as well as nonworking families under income floors under poor welfare, would receive uniform federal payments under standards set by Washington. A jobless family of four would get $2,400.

Those adults not working would be required to sign up for work or training or lose their share of the federal payments. Currently a family with a nonworking male is disqualified from welfare payments in most states—often causing the male to desert to qualify his family for welfare.

Indian Official Mum on Ted's Word

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian Foreign Minister Swaran Singh said today if the United States is shipping munitions to Pakistan, "it is a clear departure from the assurances given me."

Singh was commenting on a dispatch from Washington in The New York Times today, attributed to a spokesman for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that two Pakistani freighters recently left the United States with armaments and other military supplies.

The dispatch quoted a Kennedy aide as having said Kennedy had been informed of the shipments by the U.S. State Department. One freighter, the Sunderbans, was due in Karachi, Pakistan, today and the other, the Padma, had left New York on Tuesday, according to the newspaper story.

"I cannot comment on the correctness of the New York Times report," Singh said. "I got the clear impression from the United States authorities that there has been no supply of military equipment to Pakistan, especially after the trouble started in East Bengal (East Pakistan)."

The Nixon administration had announced a ban on military supplies to Pakistan after the government of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan moved to crush the eastern province's self-rule movement with troops on March 25.

Refugee officials in Calcutta, meanwhile, said today their program of relocating the war victims will bog down unless more Indian states can receive the Bengalis.

Most of the refugees are concentrated in overcrowded camps along the Indo-Pakistani border, and the government wants to relocate about 2.5 million of them.

African Nations Reject Dialogue

ADDIS ABABA (UPI)—The summit conference of African nations today rejected any dialogue with South Africa in a showdown vote on the issue forced by the Ivory Coast.

Conference officials said the roll-call vote was 28 nations against dialogue, six in favor and five abstentions.

Two of the 41 members of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) were absent from the conference.

Conference officials said summit meeting first adopted a declaration rejecting dialogue by acclamation, with seven countries—the Ivory Coast, Togo, Swaziland, Malawi, Mauritius, Madagascar and Lesotho—reserving their position and asking for the floor.

The officials said that when Ivory Coast Foreign Minister

Arsene Assouan-Usher took the floor he insisted on a roll-call vote.

They said Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia appealed to Assouan-Usher to withdraw his request for the roll-call vote but the minister refused. Conference delegates then voted.

South African Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster offered on March 30 to open discussions with Black African nations. On April 28, President Felix Houphouet-Boigny advocated such talks with the Pretoria government, a statement which set off continent-wide controversy, including attacks on him by the more militant African states such as Tanzania.

Akron Ghetto Sealed Off in Wake of Trouble

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Police sealed off a 15-block ghetto area and used tear gas on crowds early today after Negroes, angry over the shooting of a black by a white man, took to the streets throwing rocks and bottles at passing cars.

Several police cruisers were hit by gunfire and one officer was nicked on the arm by a bullet, police said. Scattered incidents and milling crowds were reported into the morning. At least 30 persons were arrested.

Police withdrew all but a few of the 150 officers from the area shortly before dawn today and reopened the cordoned-off neighborhood.

"Everything is under control," the detective bureau said.

It was the second night of trouble here. Early Tuesday police cars were shot at and hit with rocks and bottles after a drag race was stopped and officers attempted to disperse a crowd of about 300. Two persons were arrested.

The second night of incidents began after Harold Summerville, 20, was shot and critically wounded by a shotgun-carrying white man at Uncle Louie's bar on the southeast side.

Zaretzki on 'Fun City' State — Good Gag

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The idea of New York City's becoming the 51st star in the flag is, depending on viewpoint, worth serious study or just a good gag.

Statehood for the city came under brief discussion Tuesday among legislative leaders here and two said they thought the separate state concept was worth serious investigation.

Outspoken Joseph Zaretzki, the Senate's minority leader, said however, that talk about making New York City a state is just "a good gag" that will never happen.

"I would consider the idea seriously," Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea said. "But at this point we've had only a superficial study of the proposal."

"What would replace the $2.5 billion the city receives each year from the state?" he asked.

Duryea said the city currently has 43 per cent of the state's population, pays 46 per cent of state taxes and receives 47 per cent of all state income back in state aid.

Assembly Democratic Leader Stanley Steingut said the $2.5 billion in state aid than its residents pay in taxes.

"I think the idea of creating a new state should be examined," Steingut said. "My father put in a bill to do this 25-30 years ago."

"I don't know what you guys are talking about it for, it will never happen," Zaretzki said.

"It's just a gimmick to show the tremendous needs of the city and the lack of understanding of the problems the city has by the rest of the state," he said. "What people don't realize is that New York City is the equivalent of 40 Syracusees or 20 Buffalos or 30 Rochesteres all rolled into one. 'We just don't get any understanding.'"

The legislative leaders met in Albany to name committees for the coming year.

One commission on which there was no action was the new panel to investigate New York City government. Duryea said the five member commission appointed by Governor Rockefeller and the leaders would be named "in a matter of weeks."

Commenting on the New York City budget situation, Duryea said that cuts by the city council "upheld our wariness of Mayor (John V.) Lindsay's figures."

"When we were deliberating on the budget, we questioned these figures and the need for all those taxes," Duryea said.

"The whole question of the mayor's budget credibility is being borne out by the $200 million slashes the city council is taking out of it."

Marchi Wants In On Gotham Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Sen. John J. Marchi, who ran for mayor of New York City in 1969 and still covets the job, is pushing for a seat on the state commission that will investigate the city's government affairs.

The Staten Island Republican has made his wishes known to Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, who will appoint one of the commission members, and to Gov. Rockefeller, who will name three.

The fifth member is to be designated by Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, who said Monday that he did not believe state legislators should be placed on the commission.

When the Republican-drawn bill creating the commission was forced through the legislature, Democrats contended that the investigation would be merely a vehicle for embarrassing Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Some suggested also that Marchi would turn up as a commission member and use the position as a springboard for another mayoral candidacy.

Legislative sources now report that Marchi has requested Brydges to consider him for a seat on the commission but has obtained no commitment.

Marchi declined to confirm the information but allowed that he was "deeply interested" in the commission's endeavor. He pointed out that, as chairman of the Senate Committee on New York City Affairs he long had sponsored similar legislation seeking an inquiry into the city government.

He also conceded that he still aspired to the mayor's office, saying "my interest isn't any less than when I ran two years ago."

N.Y. City Survival Budget Official

NEW YORK (AP) — The Board of Estimate and the City Council have adopted a record $8.566 billion expense budget—$564 million less than what Mayor John V. Lindsay had submitted as a "survival budget."

Lindsay cast the lone dissenting vote in both the board and council Tuesday but said he would not veto the changes.

"Basically by reducing the budget by only slightly more than one per cent they have acknowledged that the budget is austere, necessary and responsible," the mayor said.

The voting—first by the board, then the council—capped a month-long political battle fought in City Hall and the state capitol and ended within one hour of the legal midnight deadline for adoption of the budget, which takes effect July 1.

During the often acrid debate in the state legislature and in the city legislative bodies, Lindsay had said any budget cuts could result in the layoffs of thousands of city workers, but the only immediate repercussion evident from the approval of the budget was a Board of Education announcement Tuesday that summer school programs offering students advance work would be eliminated. The council and board eliminated six of Lindsay's proposed taxes that had been authorized by the legislature, which in turn had eliminated some of the mayor's original suggested levies.

Lindsay had asked for $525 million in new taxes from the council and board, and got $433 million. The biggest single new revenue-raising measure approved was an increase in the city income tax designed to produce $225 million more a year.

Also approved was an increase in the real estate tax that will bring in an estimated $108 million in the coming fiscal year. Other approved levies included an increased corporation tax, a tax on professional workers, and taxes on leaded gasoline and the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes.

In what one council spokesman described as an "experiment" a 2-cent tax was imposed on plastic containers, but glass and metal containers were not included in the proposal. Lindsay said this tax would cut down pollution of city streets, parkways and parklands.

However, the city bodies refused to approve several taxes that the state legislature had authorized. These included an increase and extension of the sales tax to include haircuts and dry cleaning, and a proposed hike in the Staten Island ferry fare from 5 cents to 25 cents, as well as beer and liquor taxes and auto-use taxes.

The state legislature authorized only $525 million in new taxes, and Lindsay responded by cutting his proposal to $8.753 billion when the proposed budget went to the board and council. The two bodies then slashed the budget by $187 million more.

Sparkman Poses Lockheed Question

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Confident he carries a majority of his 17-member Senate Banking Committee, Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., says the remaining question may be how—rather than whether—the government can assist the financially strapped Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Sparkman favors a broad, general bill creating machinery for government loan guarantees for many corporations who face collapse because they are unable to raise cash.

The Nixon Administration first wants a bill geared specifically to Lockheed.

The committee will begin a series of closed meetings in about one week to decide whether the government will come to the aid of the nearly bankrupt aircraft giant. Under its bill, the government would guarantee repayment of a $250 million bank loan to Lockheed. If Lockheed received the loan and then went bankrupt, the government would repay the banks and take over some of Lockheed's assets.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., miffed that Sparkman gavelled the public hearings closed Tuesday, said he would ask the chairman to reopen them to take testimony from Lockheed's competitor, McDonnell-Douglas, and from an official of the British government.

Because of the collapse of Britain's Rolls-Royce, maker of the engine for Lockheed's new commercial jetliner, the L1011 Tristar, Lockheed's costs have risen and the firm needs the loan to survive.

DeSapio Term Depends on Health Word

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unless "significant new medical information" is available one-time Tammany leader Carmine DeSapio will have to start serving a two-year prison sentence Friday.

DeSapio's lawyer, Maurice Edelman, told Federal Judge Harold Tyler Jr. Tuesday his client was ill and requested a two-week extension.

Tyler approved a three-day delay but told Edelman "There will have to be some significant medical information which is not known to you or to me now" before he would be granted any further extension.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 23, 1971

New Breed of Mayors

Despite the trials and tribulations of American cities, a new breed of vigorous and dedicated mayors have risen in many places across the land.

The only mayor who comes to mind and who went on to high national office is Hubert Humphrey, who rose from mayor of Minneapolis to the United States Senate. He went on to be Vice President and Democratic candidate for President in 1968, and back to the Senate where he again aspires to be his party's nomination for President. And New York Mayor John V. Lindsay is mentioned in presidential talk but analysts don't give him a chance, affirming the old saw that the Big City mayoralty is a dead end.

Winners of recent mayoralty elections emphasized participatory democracy. They include Wes Wise, 52, of Dallas, who defeated a millionaire candidate backed by the business establishment; Mrs. Patience Latting of Oklahoma City, who won on a reform ticket; and Norman Y. Mineta, 39, of San Jose, Calif., who advocated a tax increase and open housing to defeat a field of 15 candidates.

Law and order pushed Charles S. Stenvig from police detective to a second term as mayor of Minneapolis. Frank L. Rizzo, former police commissioner, won the Democratic nomination for mayor of Philadelphia and is given a good chance of winning the mayoralty.

There also are the black mayors—Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland, Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark and Richard G. Hatcher of Gary—who have all surprised their adherents and opponents alike by providing good municipal government in the midst of racial antagonisms.

The nation's mayors gathered in Philadelphia last week for the 38th annual convention of the United States Conference of Mayors. About half of the 39 on the executive committee were retiring, mostly by their own desire not to run again and "suffer more." It takes courage to follow them into the harassment and mounting problems of the cities.

Too Many Candidates

There are so many Democratic Senators, and possibly one Congressman, who want the nomination to run against President Nixon, that if they all get involved in the 20-odd presidential primaries to prove their vote-getting powers, they have been warned the result will be a "party-suicide." The warning comes from that very astute politician, Lawrence F. O'Brien, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

O'Brien has asked the most visible of the aspirants—Senators Muskie, McGovern, Humphrey, Bayh, Hughes, and possibly Kennedy and Proxmire, to get together with him and try to agree on ways to avert what now looms like a party disaster. Two who are notable for their absence from this list are Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington. Perhaps it's because they are conservatives in foreign affairs and not likely to be in the same pool as the others, all various degrees of liberals.

Anyway, O'Brien is concerned that the aspirants may so extend the use of Democratic financial resources, by fighting each other in the primaries, there won't be anything left with which to wage the election battle against Nixon, and the President would win by default. Even if he is now vulnerable, as the Democrats believe, their chosen candidate wouldn't have the means to make the most of it.

O'Brien's solution is fair enough if the aspirants will listen. He wants them to enter selective primaries, where they can show their voting powers. Finally, he would have them agree to throw their own campaign resources behind the candidate who finally wins the nomination.

Well, O'Brien is an astute politician. But isn't he asking the impossible? Whatever these men may pledge, can they restrain themselves once they smell victory? The answer will test not only O'Brien's skill, but the Democratic party's ability to gird for the big battle in 1972.

"It's the Only Way We Can Know to What We're Advising and Consenting!"

David Lawrence Says LBJ Knows All the Facts About the 'Pentagon Study'

WASHINGTON — Grave doubts are being expressed by some high officials of the Johnson administration as to the merits of the so-called "Pentagon Study" which was the basis of published articles last week about the Vietnam War. For one thing, it is pointed out the document was not made available to important officials until a few days before the administration ended so that it could be carefully appraised. An examination revealed that much White House material, for instance, was omitted as well as comments by certain officials of departments involved in the events mentioned.

The impression which some former officials have is that the "study" was prepared by biased writers who were intent on carrying on the anti-war crusade of the day. Why didn't the authors of the memorandum or study confer with all the high officials who had a part in the policy-making process? The document doesn't present the complete record of what confronted the Johnson administration and the reasons for choosing the various steps that were initiated in the hope of persuading the North Vietnamese to enter peace negotiations.

President Johnson is probably the only man who knows the whole story, though some of his cabinet officers were well acquainted with the circumstances that led to certain actions being taken. So far as is known, they were not consulted by the writers of the "Pentagon Study."

The American people are entitled to both sides. The press has an obligation to dig up the facts as to which officials even knew about the Pentagon document and why the others who took part in the making of policy have not been given an opportunity to express their opinions in the newspaper articles which have since appeared.

The question of whether newspapers have a right to publish documents which are classified is one that the Supreme Court of the United States will have to decide. The main point of interest today, however, is the news contained in them as revealed in the New York Times and the Washington Post. The stories printed are certainly news, but whether some of the texts of communications from our government to diplomats or ambassadors abroad should have been paraphrased and not printed verbatim is something that needs to be settled by the court to insure ways of protecting U. S. government codes.

As matters stand now, the American people have been given what many officials of the last administration consider a one-sided story. They say it leads the public to think that their own government was engaged in "deception." In fact the word "credibility" is frequently used in the criticisms of the Johnson administration as a result of what has been published about the way the Vietnam policy was developed.

There is another phase. Every administration has tried to avoid any step that would force the country into a larger and larger war in Vietnam. If a move was made that appeared to threaten the enemy with retaliatory measures and these were not taken, is this evidence of a lack of good faith or of "deception" of our people? In war adversaries make all kinds of moves to influence the action of the other side.

The United States also was trying to get assistance from other countries so that more troops would be mobilized to impress both Red China and the Soviet Union. These are normal practices and should not be regarded now as just part of a political game. Foreign governments, especially those in Southeast Asia and the Pacific, appreciate what the United States did in making big sacrifices in Vietnam. Escalation of the war was one way to show the Communists that they would not be allowed to take over Southeast Asia.

Foreign policy in the United States is not made by one administration. It extends back into other administrations, and any study of current problems must take into account the importance of maintaining friendly relations with other governments in Asia as well as Europe, which depend on America's potential help. One of President Johnson's close friends told this writer that the "Pentagon Study" should have been submitted to the Department of State immediately after it was written. Why wasn't this done? Now, as it is made public, the assumption abroad will be that the Department acquiesced in the findings of the report or at least had an opportunity to approve or disapprove of its contents, which doesn't happen to be the case.

Meanwhile, the American people are not being told what really happened. Former President Lyndon Johnson is the only man who today can give the nation all the facts.

Pentagon and Its 'Kept' Firms

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some insiders in the Nixon administration are more troubled than they will say publicly over what the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation case tells them about the unhappy and heavy interdependence of one important group of U. S. companies and the Defense Department.

Involved in the overall picture, though little mentioned in the public discussions, are assorted subcontracts involving many smaller firms.

For the sad thing is that the Lockheed situation is not unique. For the past 20 years of Republican and Democratic administrations, the Pentagon has been actively engaged in bailing out companies, large and small, because to let them go down the drain would have endangered the national security, national economic stability or an administration's employment policies.

These past increases in funds for companies in trouble have not attracted the wide attention of the Lockheed case. But they have, in the aggregate, cost much more in government dollars.

Sometimes the problem has been solved by "price adjustments." Sometimes advanced payments have been stepped up. Sometimes additional work has been thrown the way of the company. Sometimes loans have been managed through implied government guarantees. There are a multitude of ways to supply private firms with more federal funds.

So far as can be discovered, the decisions have been made by government men, largely civilians, operating in what they believe to be public interest.

It could turn out that a government-guaranteed loan to Lockheed is essential and in the best interests of the United States. But what has developed is deeply disturbing all the same.

If this were a simple matter of corruption, it would be easily correctable. Each new administration could sweep out evil men and public prosecutors indicted businessmen involved. What has happened is more worrisome.

Over the years a select group of companies has grown used to Pentagon ways. They have acquired the know-how required to deal effectively within the Pentagon maze.

From the Pentagon side, working with people you know is more comfortable. Old shoes feel better.

There is a learning curve that companies go through in meeting government specifications and in following government procurement procedures and work practices. It is a complicated jungle that many companies run from and others go broke at.

Many firms prefer to stay away from the roller-coaster ups and downs of defense business but those which are successful spend much of their effort in mastering the techniques. Often they so alter their organization and business practices that they may lose their ability to compete in the non-government world.

All of these factors tend to keep some companies regularly tied to the defense business. They also operate to discourage new entries. Gradually the field gets smaller — at least in major areas.

The process is intensified by what might be called the Pentagon speed syndrome. The Pentagon is always in a hurry. Sometimes this is because Congress has waited so long to vote appropriations that the Defense Department must run to catch up with its program.

An official in a hurry favors a man he has dealt with before because he knows what that man can do, and what he can't. A company used to dealing with a particular type of weapon or equipment often can do the job more rapidly and with fewer misunderstandings and mistakes.

Thus, the Pentagon has over the years tended to concentrate its major contracts within a fairly tight circle.

This extreme dependence of some major U. S. companies on the Pentagon and the dependence of the Pentagon on these firms is bad for national defense and the free enterprise system.

In some instances the federal government has developed what might be called kept companies, with all the inherent inefficiencies, waste and narrowness of outlook this relationship implies.

Jack Anderson Says

Nassikas Attempted to Add $4 Billion in Gas Rate Increase

WASHINGTON — Of all the suppressed documents dealing with the attempt to add $4 billion to the consumers' gas bills, the most damning is a May 14 memo written by Federal Power Commission economists.

They flatly refused to go along with Chairman John Nassikas's plan to grant $4 billion in rate increases to Gulf, Texaco, Humble, Sunoco, Shell, Mobil, Phillips and other gas giants with holdings in the vast Louisiana natural gas fields.

Nassikas suppressed the economists' objections, ignored their figures and accepted the self-serving figures of the gas industry. We have already reported how he also withheld the facts from Congress and the public.

The case for raising rates was made by Nassikas's general counsel, Gordon Gooch, who drafted a lengthy legal brief justifying the gigantic hornswoggle.

The Office of Economics took vigorous exception to Gooch's figures, facts and arguments. Not only were ringing dissents made, but the economists demanded that their disagreement be written into the brief.

Instead, the dissenting memo was locked up with the other Nassikas Papers, which reveal how the Federal Power Chairman has promoted gas interests instead of the public interest he was sworn to uphold.

Gooch contended in his legal brief, for instance, that an FPC "field audit served to verify the accuracy" of industry figures on natural gas reserves. The economists dissented.

Gooch also claimed that "capital is now and will continue to be in short supply" to "overcome the current gas supply crisis," this was a key argument for giving the gas boys what they wanted. The economists vigorously disagreed.

Gooch argued that granting the rate increases would automatically "make the drilling for gas... more attractive" to the gas companies. The economists objected.

Gooch's brief also made the point that "uncommitted proved reserve held by producers is extremely small" and, therefore, that the rate increases are necessary. Register our dissent, said the economists.

Dissents were entered against Gooch's pro-industry findings on the cost of wells, production, operations, exploration, and royalties. Indeed, the Office of Economics refused to go along with 13 consecutive pages of Gooch's brief, the heart of his argument for the $4 billion bonodoggle.

In a word, the economists took exception almost to the entire Gooch case.

Yet Gooch buried the memo deep in his files and submitted his brief to the commissioners with no hint that the FPC's best economists had raised a howl against the $4 billion giveaway.

Footnote: Gooch laboriously explained to us that the economists at first had gone along with the brief, then had filed their objections later. He took full responsibility, he said, for overruling them. Nassikas declined all comment.

Car Repair Kickback
Most auto body shops would think twice before committing to paper a kickback arrangement with insurance agents who send them clients' cars to be repaired.

No such modesty possessed Larry Brotman, president of Brotman Autobody Center, a Los Angeles repair service since 1935. Brotman gleaned the names of 100 insurance men from the telephone book and wrote them that "the big idea behind this letter is to tell you that I want to work with you."

"I have the pleasure of paying the rent for quite a few insurance men who refer their customers to me. You will receive as much as $80 for any referral you may make to me."

To further enhance the kickback scheme, Brotman agreed to provide the insurance clients with free cars during the repair work.

We asked Brotman about his brazen plan, and he was as frank as his letter. Yes, he said, "perhaps it was" unethical. But he said he was careful to avoid offering the kickbacks to insurance companies themselves, because this might have violated the law.

"These are kickbacks to (individual) agents," he explained. However, Brotman said, not a single insurance man had accepted a kickback and he had gotten only $390 in business out of his 100 letters.

Brotman said his advertising agency put him up to the letter-writing. But, he added ruefully, "It didn't work at all."

Total Recall

The Pentagon, wary of further leaks of the top secret documents on Vietnam which were fronted by the New York Times, is recalling the 15 volumes of the documents known to exist. Actually, hints of the document's existence have been known to millions of Americans for months. PARADE's Lloyd Shearer first revealed that the controversial Vietnam volumes were being hidden away at the Pentagon. On October 25, 1970, he wrote that "several months before Lyndon Johnson oozed him out of the Pentagon," (former Defense Secretary Robert) McNamara assigned a task force under Les Gelb to undertake the most thorough, in-depth study of the war.

"There are relatively few copies in existence," Shearer wrote. "There are no plans to make it public."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

I Must Go Down to the Sea Again, and Again...

The sea has always been a love to me. Why, I know not. It grants unto me changing colors and moods. Land can be seen and its contours remain the same. But the oceans of the world are given to altering their faces, heightening or diminishing their colors, or lying so flat that the human eye cannot detect where the sea ends and the sky begins.

At 16, I ran away from home to sign on a freighter. The man in the booth was big and hard as granite. He tossed a nickel to me: "Go on home, sonny," he said, "and buy yourself a lollipop."

At school, I was suspended for dreaming out of the class window at New Jersey shore. I fought the big green curling breakers and was tossed, face down, in the sands below.

Babbling brooks and sweetwater lakes could not capture my interest. But let me hear the thunder of a wave on sand, the crash of bass hollow notes, and I must run toward it. The eternal fascination is beyond me. When I can see it, and hear it, conversation dies in my throat.

When I grew up, I moved toward writing, hoping someday to live near the sea. It happened once. We moved to Sea Bright, New Jersey, behind a granite seawall. We were on a tawny strand 224 feet, 6 inches from the Shrewsbury River. On a winter night the waves hit those big rocks so hard that they sent a thick finger of spume to the sky. The power lines cracked blue with the salt in the air.

Sometimes, in the morning, the front windows were crusted with salt. In the spring, wild ducks sat in the tall marshes on the far side of the river and hatched their young. In time, mother waddled into the water and looked back at a line of five or six babies. They were timid, but when they got in the river and found that they did not sink, they flapped their tiny wings and tried to fly.

Norwegian rats walked along the wooden stringpiece behind the house moving from winter quarters to summer in the seawall. There they would watch all day for a mother crab to hatch a baby and send it on its slow journey to the first wave. Sometimes the little crab won. Sometimes it didn't.

The big gulls stood still in the breeze, the big eyes detecting every motion under the water. Terns were small and white, but gulls were always big and off-white.

They often followed a dory in from the sea, flying low and looking like a bridal train, waiting for fish heads and tails to be thrown overboard.

Since then, I have spent time at sea. I've made a trip on the liner "United States," the "Constitution," the "Independence," the "Santa Rosa," the old "Santa Paula" — a host of fine ships. I've cruised, as a guest, on the carrier "Midway" and the destroyer "English."

And yet my urge for the beauty of the sea has not abated. It is an attachment beyond definition. Last week, my wife and I concluded a cruise of the Caribbean. We spent seven days on the "Boheme," moving southward through the Bahama Shoals toward San Juan and the Virgin Islands. The seas were flat and pale blue-green; the only waves in sight were made by the passing of the "Boheme."

She cut a nice piece of key-lime pie in the water. She did her 18½ knots steadily, with no wheezing or struggle. Below decks, there were bingo games and night club shows and one-arm bandits clinking coins, but my interest, as always, was in the sea. Sometimes it sported little white feathers, but mostly it was colored glass.

At sunset, little ridges of pure fire stood on the wave tops. The color died quickly and, in the density of night, stars became bigger and brighter. Once in a while, my wife or I would catch the distant mast lights on another vessel, and we wondered who she was and where she was going.

The days spun so swiftly that I was still sleeping when "Boheme" docked. We had one hour in which to wash, dress, gulp steamy coffee, and tip the steward before debarking. I looked back at her from the shore, and all ships look bigger from land-side.

My wife, knowing my feeling for the sea, asked me if I remembered the story about the 90-year-old woman who had never seen it. They brought the feeble old lady from the heartland of the sand, and sat her in a beach chair. She watched for five minutes as the breakers came in, and slid backward.

"Is that all it does?" she asked...

World War II Bonus
 Editor, The Freeman:
 The following resolution has been adopted by the Disabled American Veterans:

That the D.A.V. and every other Veterans Organizations — now registered, contact their Congressman and Senators as a body and have them put forth a bill for a Federal Bonus for all veterans of WW II which is more than overdue — 25 years overdue. Veterans of WW I had to fight for theirs, we are ready to fight for ours.

If we the United States of America can give Foreign Aid in the billions to countries that turn around spit in our face, undermine our government, sell the aid given them on the black market, and try to sell us down the river every chance they get, the time has come that the United States should take care of their own, before giving our money (Tax Money) to foreign countries who don't appreciate it or have no intentions of ever paying us back — if they do, it may be with bullets or bombs.

Let's evaluate this matter: When the Federal Bonus is approved — which we the Veterans have to see that it is approved and put pressure on our elected Representatives — that 99 per cent of every dollar given out in the form of a Federal Bonus will be spent or invested in the United States.

Comrades — it is about time we all woke up and started to fight — not only for ourselves — but for our Country too.

As we all know and have knowledge of, our Government is slowly but surely being undermined by some fanatical movements being made in branches of government or the ones that govern that particular branch — are giving our Country away without us realizing it.

So let's start — right now — because if we don't, it may be too late.

There is only one single denomination:

OUR COUNTRY — MAY GOD BLESS HER

Communists on Ballot

Editor, The Freeman:

I have just read Mr. Jos. C. Hassett's letter of June 5, 1971 in your column and I couldn't believe my eyes. The Disabled American Veterans of Kingston have resolved that the name of the Communist Party be removed from government ballots in the United States at all levels.

I really cannot believe this. Don't Mr. Hassett and his associates realize that this would be a violation of the basic freedom of this country? So Communist candidates are listed on the ballots, are they being elected? No! Americans display their political viewpoints by not electing people from factions which hold ideals which the voters are against.

I refuse to resort to petty name calling, but really, Mr. Hassett, this is a "free" country. Anyone from Fascists to Communists has a right to express himself and to run for office. If he is elected it will only be because he has gained a popular majority. Keeping the names of so-called undesirable off the ballot will not stop their political activities. There are always write-ins.

New Paltz Zoning

Editor, The Freeman:

Your reporter incorrectly reported action of the New Paltz Town Board in its meeting of June 9. The news article the following day states that the change in the zoning ordinance "would require a developer to donate 10 per cent of his land or $100 per home site, to the town recreation fund" to be used for parks and other recreational purposes.

Instead, the changed ordinance provides that "the subdivider shall set aside not more than 10 per cent of the area of his total subdivision," or the $100 mentioned, for these purposes.

There is quite a difference.

Widening Albany Avenue

Editor, The Freeman:

It was very distressing to read in Mr. Reynold's recent column, that the Alderman of the Ward through which, Albany Avenue passes, has "no favors to call in", to stop the State from widening the Avenue from Broadway to Foxhall.

It is indeed a sad commentary on the condition of Government when our Representatives ONLY give their support to other representatives as favors. Is there no responsibility on the part of elected individuals for the Community in which they live?

Does not, the preservation of this City, become the responsibility of all City representatives, rather than the individual who's Ward stands in jeopardy?

More is the pity, when our representatives allow personal animosity to interfere with their obligations to those, to whom they owe their election.

Sincerely,

Would Change Wording

Editor, The Freeman:

When we, the working class of people pledge our allegiance to the flag, I think that we make a big mistake when we say "liberty and justice for all."

This saying is a farce because that goal has not yet been achieved. I think that the wording should be changed to say, "the greatest land on earth."

As long as we keep yapping "justice for all" like a bunch of sheep, the millionaire tax exempt loopholes will be laughing at us and letting we Peons pay their share of the taxes.

I say let's all petition our congressmen and senators to legally change the wording.

1971 Legislation Session

Editor, The Freeman:

The 1971 session of the New York State Legislature, which Republican State Senate Majority Leader Earl Brides predicted would go down in "annals as the year of accomplishment on behalf of the average man," ended by extending the sales tax to include the "average man's" coffee break.

The average man took it on the chin again from this year's session of the legislature, one of the most regressive, anti-democratic, anti-consumer sessions in history. Of the 16,000 bills introduced in the 74 days the legislature was in session, less than 1,500 passed and only 450 have been signed into law so far.

The State Budget was rewritten, imposing an increase in the State's regressive sales tax instead of an increase in the more progressive income tax. The legislature did little to further much needed electoral reform. In fact, it made it more difficult for insurgent and independent candidates to mount effective campaigns and cut by one third the number of days allowed for local voter registration.

The lawyer-lobby effectively blocked legitimate automobile insurance reforms. Consumer-protection measures, including unit-pricing, and other measures advocated by the State's own consumer protection agency never got out of committee. Measures advanced for reforming the Judicial System suffered a similar fate.

In its final days the legislature passed a 23 million dollar supplemental budget which contains appropriations totaling $540,000 for eight temporary legislative havens for patronage in the form of "no show" or token jobs. One of the items was for $75,000 for a commission to review the "compensation received by members of the legislature and of the Judiciary."

Last year it cost $22.4 million to operate the Legislature. This year the taxpayers of New York State will pay nearly $25 million to have its Legislature meet.

With all this, they did not fail to reward themselves. Just before they adjourned they granted every legislator a $2,000 increase in expense allowances, for a total of $5,000 annually, and went even further in the Senate by giving every Senator an extra special expense allowance of at least $3,500 over and above the basic $5,000 allowance.

It was a shameless, self-serving session, one that demonstrates the extent to which the legislature has lost touch with the "average man."

Free Enterprise

Editor, The Freeman:

Coming up from Florida this spring on Eastern's magnificent 747, and after having cocktails and eating dinner with my wife, I went to the upper lounge. While reading the Miami papers, lo and behold, there was a Pressman article with an Ellenville address.

Mr. Pressman, I thought your propensity for writing was confined to New York State papers or were you enjoying Florida on the fruits of free enterprise?

I was never high on the economic totem pole, yet here I was traveling first class on the world's ultimate in luxury transportation and built by American ingenuity. Your article then triggered my thinking about your socialism and our economy.

In the April copy of the National Geographic is an article on Russia and its socialism and it states a doctor's salary averages $200, hardly enough for a vacation and travel of a few thousand miles. Yesterday's paper states that Russia's great plane on its way back from the Paris air show had two of its motors fail.

After many years of Fabian Socialism, England recently had to severely punish a large group of its doctors for refusing to work under its National Health act.

Before World War I, I often walked up Broadway in New York from downtown after a half day on Saturdays and would take a breather in Union Square Park and listen to the same patter you use by the Eugene Debs Socialists, the W.W.s, etc. and concede that sometimes the show at Union Square was better.

Come on Mr. Pressman, all together now!

Three cheers for free enterprise.

Editor, The Freeman:

The other day the Daily Freeman reported on "growth games," activities to awaken your emotions and senses, taken from "Growth Games: How to Tune In Yourself, Your Family, Your Friends," written by me and psychologist Harold S. Streiffeld.

People who've taken part in groups I've led tell me they've especially enjoyed these other games, and so might Freeman readers:

Blind Walk. Close your eyes and experience the world as a blind person does, with your remaining senses heightened. Feel textures you're ordinarily numb to. This page, for example. Your Clothing. The air against your skin.

Now, eyes closed, listen to all the sounds you rarely hear. Let them immerse you, without trying to label them. You may feel in the midst of a symphony.

Lastly, have someone lead you on a silent, blind walk. Note how different the world sounds, feels, smells, tastes. Try running — it feels like you're flying. (You'll also develop great warmth for the person you're entrusting with your body.)

Squeeze and Stretch is so relaxing it's hard to believe. Sit on the floor and squeeze your body into as small a space as possible. Hug your knees, and clench every muscle you can — in your arms, legs, stomach, back. Scrunch up your face.

I was never high on the economic totem pole, yet here I was traveling first class on the world's ultimate in luxury transportation and built by American ingenuity. Your article then triggered my thinking about your socialism and our economy.

In the April copy of the National Geographic is an article on Russia and its socialism and it states a doctor's salary averages $200, hardly enough for a vacation and travel of a few thousand miles. Yesterday's paper states that Russia's great plane on its way back from the Paris air show had two of its motors fail.

After many years of Fabian Socialism, England recently had to severely punish a large group of its doctors for refusing to work under its National Health act.

Before World War I, I often walked up Broadway in New York from downtown after a half day on Saturdays and would take a breather in Union Square Park and listen to the same patter you use by the Eugene Debs Socialists, the W.W.s, etc. and concede that sometimes the show at Union Square was better.

Come on Mr. Pressman, all together now!

Three cheers for free enterprise.

Yours truly,

'Growth Games'

Editor, The Freeman:

The other day the Daily Freeman reported on "growth games," activities to awaken your emotions and senses, taken from "Growth Games: How to Tune In Yourself, Your Family, Your Friends," written by me and psychologist Harold S. Streiffeld.

People who've taken part in groups I've led tell me they've especially enjoyed these other games, and so might Freeman readers:

Blind Walk. Close your eyes and experience the world as a blind person does, with your remaining senses heightened. Feel textures you're ordinarily numb to. This page, for example. Your Clothing. The air against your skin.

Now, eyes closed, listen to all the sounds you rarely hear. Let them immerse you, without trying to label them. You may feel in the midst of a symphony.

Lastly, have someone lead you on a silent, blind walk. Note how different the world sounds, feels, smells, tastes. Try running — it feels like you're flying. (You'll also develop great warmth for the person you're entrusting with your body.)

Squeeze and Stretch is so relaxing it's hard to believe. Sit on the floor and squeeze your body into as small a space as possible. Hug your knees, and clench every muscle you can — in your arms, legs, stomach, back. Scrunch up your face.

County Legislature Sets Special Meeting

KINGSTON—The Ulster County Legislature is scheduled to hold a special meeting on Wednesday, June 23, at 8 p.m. in the County Office Building. Six resolutions will be considered, including the authorization for acceptance of the low bid and contracts for the construction of the new Ulster County Jail. Another resolution concerns bonds and capital notes for construction and equipment for the Community College use. The County Legislature will also consider suspension of additional mortgage tax for an indefinite period and the modification of retention on certain county construction contracts. Two measures relate to the Ulster County Community College, with one providing for consolidation and sale of bonds and the other providing funds for appraisal of land purchased for the college.

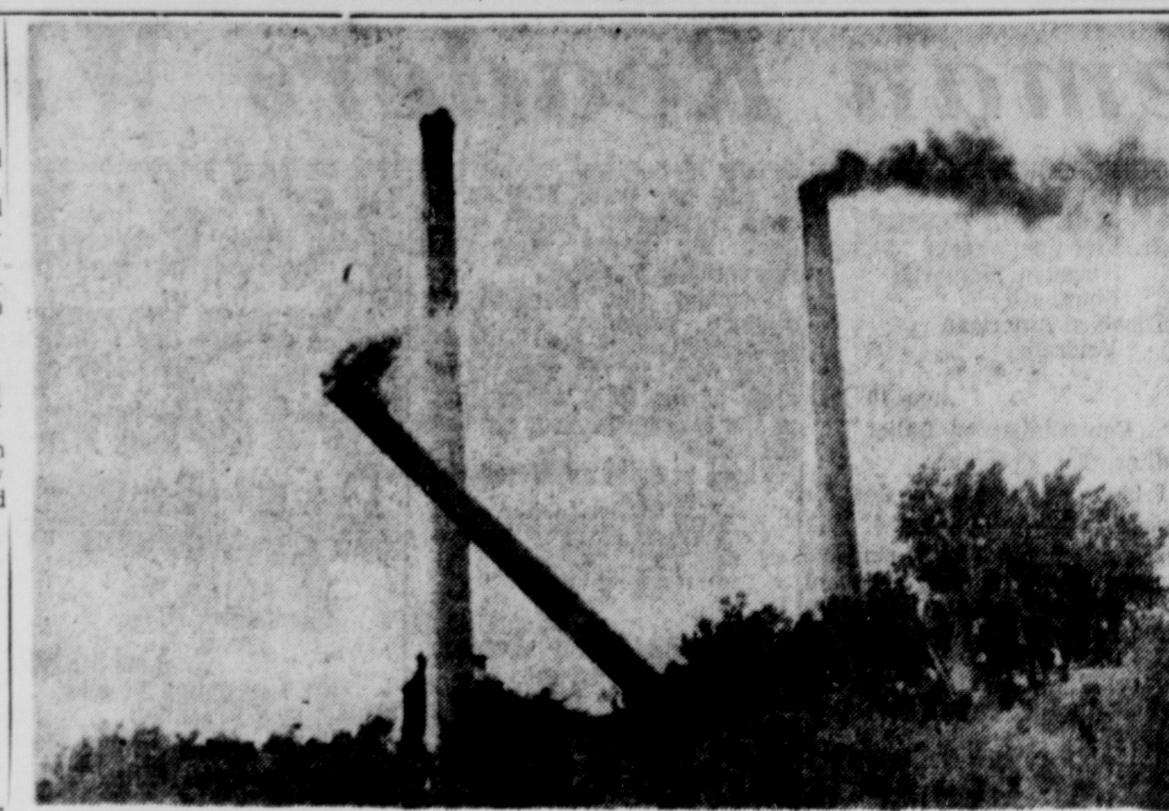

Cosmonauts Keep Soaring, Space Record Within Reach

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet one year ago by Russia's two-man Soyuz 9 flight. If all goes well the Soyuz 11 will achieve the record for man's longest space adventure. Moscow time, Thursday (5:45 p.m. EDT today). The Soviet press, as usual, made no mention of the record man-hours in space than in any of Soyuz 11's prospects for previous flight, and they moved within hours of the 18-day never to give out advance information on the program of manned spaceflights. Moscow television reported in detail the work already done aboard Soyuz 11, including cultivation of a unique vegetable garden growing sprouts of Chinese cabbage and bulb onions. The vegetable plot was contained in a suitcase-sized box, with each sprout housed in a bottle-like container. On television the stems and small leaves were clearly visible. The space gardening is part of the Soviet research program aimed for workers must grow their own vegetables and starches.

Dayan Levels Some Charges At Egypt

By United Press International
Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan charged Tuesday that Egypt does not really want to reopen the Suez Canal but is simply trying to get the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from captured Arab lands.

In a speech to a group of Jewish Agency leaders in Jerusalem, Dayan said "there is no alternative to holding these (captured) territories until a peace settlement is achieved." The defense minister said that in his negotiations on the canal "Egypt has not been motivated. DIED

Memoriam

In loving memory of my son and brother Joseph Perry who passed away a year ago today, June 22, 1970. God has taken you Joe, where you have found eternal rest. Sadly missed and never forgotten.

MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS

Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Mary Grace Ferlazzo, who passed away 6 years ago, June 23, 1965. What would we give to clasp her hand, to see her happy face, to hear her voice and see the smile that meant so much to us. Though God has you in His keeping.

We always have you in our hearts.

DAUGHTERS, ROSEMARIE, LILLIAN AND YOLANDA

Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Sadie Davis, who died one year ago, June 23, 1970. A precious one from us has gone.

A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled.

Your presence is always near us.

In memory your voice we hear yet.

Her busy hands are resting now. Her work on earth is done. God needed her in Heaven. So, He took my loving partner home.

Some day we hope to meet our mother.

In that city where there is no parting.

God Bless you, and keep you.

Jersey Man Given 9 Months In County Jail

ELLENVILLE

Charged with criminal possession of stolen property third degree and public intoxication, William Whittaker, 53, of Lakehurst, N. J., pleaded guilty to both counts Tuesday night before Police Justice Ronald W. Elias.

Whittaker was sentenced to nine months in the county jail on the criminal possession charge and 15 days for public intoxication with sentences to run concurrently.

Officer John Corwin said the man was arrested June 3 by

Patrolman Anthony Yerks after he was found in possession of a film strip projector that had been taken from the Ellenville

Reformed Church. The defendant had been confined in jail

since his arrest.

Police also reported the arrest

Tuesday of Margaret McPherson, 49, of 189 Center

Street, this village, on a warrant charging second degree assault.

The defendant was released in $50 bail pending a preliminary hearing July 6.

The arrest was made by

Patrolman Yerks. Police reported the woman was taken in custody on complaint of Eleanor Jackson of 151 Center

Street, who said the defendant hit her on the head with a beer bottle in a local tavern on the night of June 21.

Kingston, Great Britain Ministers

Across the Seas Exchange

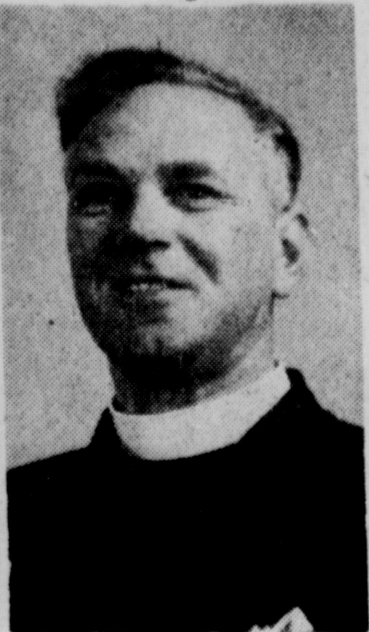

KINGSTON The Rev. Mr. McKelvie has Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Pa., and many relatives in the United States and plans to visit in vacation in August. A pulpit exchange which spans the ocean is planned by a local Baptist minister and his English counterpart.

The Rev. Norman F. Blossat, pastor of First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, and the Rev. George S. McKelvie of the Greek Street Baptist Church of Stockport, England, will be exchanging homes and automobiles as well as pulpits for the month of July. This Sunday will be the first of the exchange services.

The Rev. Mr. McKelvie was born in Bellshill, Lanarkshire, Scotland, and for 13 years prior to entering the ministry worked as a linotype operator for the Glasgow Herald. He received his technological training at the Scottish Baptist College in Glasgow after receiving his Master of Arts Degree at the University of Glasgow.

REV. NORMAN F. BLOSSAT

REV. GEORGE S. MCKELVIE

This will be the first visit to the United States for the minister and his wife. They will be accompanied by their daughter Elizabeth, a graduate student in theology and son, John, a student at Leeds University.

For the Rev. Mr. Blossat, the pulpit exchange is the culmination of a 16-year dream which began when he was a guest preacher in several British Baptist Churches in 1955 while attending the Baptist World Alliance. He had served with the Ninth Air Force in England during World War II.

It will be a first trip abroad for Mrs. Blossat and daughters, Deborah, 18; Norelle, 15 and Erica, 5.

During August, the Blossat family will travel by Auto through Europe concluding with a first meeting with Mrs. Blossat's aunt and cousins in Sweden.

Red Hook Swim Instruction

RED HOOK The Recreational Park has announced the 1971 schedule for free swimming instruction for Red Hook School District residents.

The classes will begin Monday, July 5 and be conducted from 9 to 10 a.m. each weekday. Applications are available at the bathhouse and must be recorded by June 30 to assure enrollment. The program will be under the direction of assistant head lifeguard Paul Mueller, who holds a Water Safety Instructors license.

The classes have been developed following accepted Red Cross guidelines, with achievement cards presented to those who pass the tests. Last year there were 250 participants in the program, with 127 earning certificates.

Four levels of instruction will be taught this year: beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate and swimmer. To qualify for a course the student must have passed the previous course. There will be four, two-week classes during the summer, each class consisting of a maximum of 15 pupils. Ten free hours of instruction are offered for each class. Students should report at 8:30 the first day in order to organize the groups. Schedules will be posted on the bathhouse bulletin board by July 1.

The beginner class is taught to equip the individual with the basic water safety skills and knowledge. The Advanced Beginner class increases watermanship by adding to skills learned in the beginner class. The intermediate class provides the student with the opportunity to learn all elements of good swimming techniques. The swimmer class increases the student's endurance and versatility in the water, while perfecting all strokes.

Adults interested in enrolling in a beginner swimming class should contact Mueller for information. More advanced adult instructions can be arranged on an individual basis.

In related action, the Rec Park pool has been made available to area Boy Scout troops for badge credits on Sunday mornings. Anyone interested in teaching a synchronized swim class may contact Donald Bell, park superintendent.

Woman Hurt, Struck by Car

KINGSTON Mrs. Geraldine Spada, 44, of RFD 4, Box 209, Saugerties, was injured at 2:30 p.m. Monday when hit by a car as she was walking across the intersection at Broadway and Henry Street. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance and treated for injuries to the right wrist and right knee, according to police.

Frank Sessler, 24, of P.O. Box 329, New Paltz, the driver of the car, said he had stopped for a red light at the intersection and was backing his car to allow another auto to pull out of the parking lot of the Rondout National Bank when the woman was hit by the rear bumper. Sessler told police he did not see the woman.

Auto Spree Ends in Arrest On 3 Charges

KINGSTON — A 19-year-old Saugerties youth was cited Tuesday by police on three counts of leaving the scenes of accidents after he was apprehended by detectives following a driving spree through the city.

Richard A. Cyr Jr., of 47 Appletree Drive, Saugerties, was scheduled to appear before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

According to authorities, the youth was driving along Albany Avenue shortly after 5:30 p.m. when his car hit a parked car owned by Thomas R. Hughes of 85 West Chested Street at Clinton Avenue. The driver, police said, continued on without stopping.

A short time later authorities said the Cyr vehicle crashed into a car owned by Salvatore Lamonte of 69 Holland Avenue, parked in front of 478 Broadway. Cyr continued on and after turning into Hoffman Street his car reportedly struck a vehicle owned by Edwin H. Myers of 26 Hoffman Street parked in front of Gateway Industries.

Cyr was later picked up and taken to police headquarters for questioning. He apparently escaped injury in the three mishaps.

Man Arrested After Release From Hospital

ELLENVILLE — A 28-year-old New York City man was arrested Tuesday by State Police on a charge of second degree assault following his release from Benedictine Hospital where he had undergone treatment for injuries sustained in a motor vehicle accident.

James Mafchir, of 250 West 21st Street, New York City, was later released from the county jail after posting $1,500 bail pending a hearing.

According to police, Mafchir's car was involved in a traffic accident near Samsonville Sunday afternoon and later during investigation by State Troopers J. F. Weisbeck and J. P. Dunning, the defendant allegedly engaged in a tussle with Dunning who reportedly sustained a laceration of the right hand.

Ellenville State Police were not available today for further details of the accident or the incident that followed.

Police, Club Given Praise In Wawarsing

WAWARSING — The Wawarsing Town Board has commended the Town of Wawarsing Special Police and the members of the 11 Meter Club for the "excellent job that was done on June 11-13 when these organizations not only control of the three-day Hill climb but also displayed a high degree of control in Napanoch before, during, and after the Flag Day ceremonies."

Town Supervisor Frank Harkin commented, "Orderly control of the three-day Hill climb has always been a challenge; this event coupled with traffic control in Napanoch was executed without serious incidents or any accidents."

Man Injured On Motorcycle

SAUGERTIES — Richard J. Peterson, 31, of Route 2, Box 381, Saugerties, was injured at 11:40 p. m. Tuesday when he lost control of his motorcycle as rode along Main Street.

Peterson was taken to Benedictine Hospital by the Saugerties Ambulance Service. He sustained a fracture of the right shoulder and abrasions, according to a report of Officer Charles Winters. Police said the man had his motorcycle parked and as he started to drive away the vehicle went out of control.

Big Rise for State In Pollution Density

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If mile in the 1960s—from 350.6 in New Yorkers have a feeling New Jersey, with 953.1 persons per square mile, is the nation's most densely populated state, overtaking Rhode Island, which had headed the list for 180 years.

The Census Bureau reported Tuesday that the population density in the state had risen by almost 30 persons per square mile. The bureau said 7,168,164 persons were counted in 7,521 square mile-New Jersey in the 1970 census. The state's population density was up from 805.5 per square mile in 1960.

Alaska, the largest state in land area at 3.5 million square miles, is the least densely populated with 0.5 persons per square mile. The density was 0.4 in 1960.

The District of Columbia, with 61 square miles of dense urban area, is the most densely populated political jurisdiction in the nation. It has 12,321 persons per square mile.

For the nation as a whole, the population density increased from 59.6 in 1960 to 57.4 in 1970.

U.S. Scholars in China, First in Many Years

CANTON, China (UPI)—The still do not have any definite itinerary. All of us feel very years invited to visit China in 22 happy about this (visit)," he years arrived today in the said. "At this time, we don't southern city of Canton and have much to say, since we was welcomed with "warmth have been here for only a few and enthusiasm," one of the students said.

The 13 young Americans, mostly graduate students, arrived at 3 p.m. by train from Hong Kong and checked in at the Tung Fang (East Wind) Hotel.

The scholars, associated with the Committee of Concerned Asian Scholars, in Stanford, Calif., planned to spend one month in China.

"We were received with warmth and great enthusiasm," Kim Wodard, of Stanford University, said in a telephone interview.

"We have been resting in the hotel since we arrived, and we the New China News Agency.

The committee was formed three years ago to influence the United States to exchange political, economic and cultural relations with China.

The admission of the 13 scholars into China was in line with Premier Chou En-lai's remarks last April to American table tennis players that more Americans would be visiting China "in batches."

Two days ago, Chou received in Peking three visiting American newsmen and their wives and "had a friendly conversation" with them, according to the New China News Agency.

Solid Waste — LWV Study

WOODSTOCK Solid waste is a major concern in a recent report outlined by the Woodstock League of Women Voters Education Fund.

The report follows: "Solid waste problems plague the nation, but, for many Americans, concern ends when the accumulated garbage, paper, tin cans, and grass clippings are carted away. All most people want is regular, prompt, quiet, and complete collection, at a reasonable cost."

"The public's lack of interest has been a major contributor's part to today's solid waste crisis. All too often public officials and citizens adopt a ostrich-like attitude about the problem as if to say that if we ignore the whole thing, perhaps it will go away."

According to a recent report of the League of Women Voters, "there is a devastating breakdown in the solid waste handling which pollutes our land, air, water, and aggravates social, economic and political problems."

"The problem today is that more Americans are throwing away more than ever. Our solid wastes are increasing faster than our population."

The League report says, "the trend to multiple packaging, to no deposit, no return containers, and to planned obsolescence, plus 2,000 new products created each year, swell the amount and variety of solid wastes. Today, affluent America uses and throws away. The collection and disposal problem is enormous, transcending most communities' ability to cope with it."

"Cities especially face the solid waste crisis. Their central sections urgently need better sanitation services. Children play on littered sidewalks or on vacant lots amid old refrigerators, broken furniture, and rubble from urban renewal or highway construction."

"Political ramifications of the problem are many and varied because individual municipalities have been responsible for collection and disposal of solid wastes and therefore have developed separate systems and often cross jurisdictional lines in their search for disposal sites."

"Costs are staggering. The United States spends more than $4.5 billion each year for storage, collection, processing, transportation, and final disposal of urban wastes. Experts say that the American consumer not only over-pays for the services he receives but can expect to pay three times as much by 1980," the study states.

"An emerging management concept is that of reclaiming urban wastes. According to the Council on Environmental Quality, such concept assumes that man can devise a social technological system that will wisely control the quantity and the characteristics of wastes, efficiently collect those that must be removed, creatively recycle those that can be reused, and properly dispose of those that have no further use."

"One important assumption is that somehow we can re-orient an affluent society from a use-and-discard to a use-recycle way of life."

"The public is the key to the problem, because it is the public who demands goods, discards them, and expects efficient, effective, economical, nuisance-free collection and service."

"The first step toward meeting the solid waste crisis," according to the League study, "is to begin immediately to use the methods and technology currently available. We cannot wait for a breakthrough. Every local jurisdiction can enforce collection services, convert from dumps to sanitary landfills, look into possible advantages of managing waste collection and disposal cooperatively with its neighbors, and make use of recycling programs in its community."

"New technologies and new management systems have great potential. Reuse, reclaiming, and recycling of waste must be developed. These innovative processes are essential to a long range solution, but economic factors and technological problems limit their use today."

"The question in the long run is this: Will the current mood of concern lead to changes in attitudes, habits, governmental policies and institutional arrangements, so that we reduce the generation of wastes, reclaim useful materials, and safely restore the residue to the environment?"

The complete report, Solid Wastes — It Won't Go Away No. 675 is available from the League of Women Voters Education Fund, 1730 M Street, N. W. Washington, D. C. 20036, for a nominal fee.

Elect First Woman

Woodstock Area News

WOODSTOCK
For the first time in its 50-year history, the Board of Directors of the Woodstock Artists Association has elected a woman chairman, Miss Aileen Cramer.

Miss Cramer has excellent credentials for the post, having been brought to Woodstock when she was five years old by her artist parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Cramer. The Cramer household was a favorite meeting place in the early days of the Art Colony where there was much camaraderie among the artists and talk about art.

Other chairmen heading committees, are Frances Dederick, membership; Franklin Alexander, exhibitions; assisted by Michael Densen; Steph Robbin, extension; Lou Hartmann, house committee; Basil Eliescu, hospitality; assisted by Mrs. Helen Gilkey, Ellen Pudvan, Mrs. Nancy and Ceil Germain is treasurer. Mrs. Sylvia Day is in charge of publicity.

Three trustees are in charge of the administration of the facilities of the Woodstock Artists Association. They are Mrs. Jane Jones, William Eisner and Eugene Ludins.

Eisner at 91 is the oldest member of the association, a fact that in no way impedes his competence or conscientious attention to his stewardship.

Although only six months have elapsed since the Woodstock Artists Association embarked on its year-around program, made possible through partial funding by the New York State Council on the Arts, it is evident that the community has been ready for such expansion. Plans are underway for the implementation of even broader programs which will appeal to every segment of the community.

Dr. Marlow will present diplomas to the graduates. The class will be presented by Ronald P. Vanni, principal.

William McCarthy, a member of the class of 1971, will serve as master of ceremonies for the program. Other members of the class serving on the program include: Meg Proper, who will give the class history; Mark Humphrey, who will give the welcome; and Kenneth Berryann who will lead the Pledge to the Flag.

The Bennett Orchestra and Chorus will perform.

Senior Citizens Event

WOODSTOCK
The official summer closing meeting of Woodstock Senior Citizens was a well attended picnic held recently at the Andy Lee Memorial Field.

Town Supervisor Milton Houst addressed the group, speaking on recreational projects, one of which is to be a town sponsored bus ride in September.

President Mary Busch advised that Andy Lee Memorial Field would be open to Senior Citizens on Thursdays of the summer months. It was suggested a lunch be packed and a friendly gathering with games or just visiting might be enjoyed.

Graduation Program

SAUGERTIES Those graduates who have attained cumulative high school averages of 90 per cent or above will receive special recognition. This recognition will include a gold seal commendation on their diplomas as well as the honor of displaying a gold cord at the commencement exercises. The following students are recipients of this achievement:

Eloise Cutler, Lynanne Davis, Robert Laird, Barbara MacMullen, John Martine, Robert Nelson, David Smith, Sharon VanBaaren and Diane Yerick.

Graduates with a cumulative four year average of 85 per cent or better will also receive gold seal commendations on their diplomas and will be displaying the silver cord at the ceremonies. The following students have achieved this award:

Diane Amendola, Paul Bernard, Marilyn Buono, Carlton Ferraro, Sandra Higgins, Peter Hoekstra, Linda Leimgruber, Gerald Malgieri, Janet Martin, Deborah Murphy, Peter Jung, William Partridge, Karen Righmyer, Kenneth Rowe, Mary Simmons, Virginia Swart, Diana Tanski, Walter Wagon, Mary Kay Wilsey, George Young, Joseph Brocco and Susan Robins.

The program for the day will begin with the musical arrangement by Elgar of "Pomp and Circumstance." The "Star Spangled Banner" will be performed by the Saugerties High School's Band under the direction of David Keen.

Vocal selections will be performed by the Saugerties High School Chorus.

Remarks to the graduates will be given by Daniel Lee, principal, and Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools. Anthony Rizio, president of the Board of Education, will present the diplomas to the members of the graduating class.

The program will conclude with the Saugerties High School's Alma Mater being sung by the Class of 1971 and accompanied by the High School Band.

Students Recital Held

SAUGERTIES Members of the class are: Piano students of Miss Isabel Tubbs were presented in a recital recently at the Dutch Arms Chapel, Saugerties. An interested and responsive audience of parents and friends attended.

The program consisted of ensemble numbers by several groups, solos, duets and a two piano number. A special feature was a trumpet solo played by John VanderPoel, guest, accompanied by Carol Schmersahl.

Twenty members of the class participated in the Second Annual Hudson Valley Musicianship Festival, held at New Paltz State University College on May 22, by the area Robert Pace Group Teachers in cooperation with the National Piano Foundation, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Pollard, adjudicator. Certificates, earned at the festival and awarded by Kathryn Thompson, Constance Martello, Mary Beth Robbins, Mary Beth Wenger, Elizabeth Kelly and George Young, were presented to the students at the close of the recital program.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On June 15, 1971, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York an amendment to its gas rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 11 — Gas, to become effective July 15, 1971. Said amendment would authorize the Company to restrict the supply of new or additional firm gas service to existing or prospective customers as necessary to prevent the Company's firm gas supply obligations from exceeding its ability to meet such obligations from the limited gas supplies available to the Company.

Applications for firm gas service received in writing by the Company prior to July 15, 1971 would be excepted from the restrictions embodied in the proposed amendment.

The proposed amendment would require that the Company file with the Public Service Commission, from time to time, a statement of estimated gas supply and customer requirements setting forth:

- (I) The volumes of gas available to the Company from its own production and/or storage facilities during the thirty-six months beginning with the next succeeding November 1.
- (II) The volumes of gas required to supply the estimated gas consumption of existing customers during the thirty-six months designated in (I).
- (III) The volume of gas required to supply the estimated gas consumption of applicants for gas service to single-family homes or small multiple dwellings, consisting of not more than four dwelling units in a single building during the thirty-six months designated in (I).
- (IV) The volumes of gas required to supply the estimated gas consumption of applicants for gas service to large multiple dwellings, consisting of more than four but not more than thirty dwelling units in a single building during the thirty-six months designated in (I).

The Company would reserve as much of its available gas supply as stated in (I) as would be needed to meet the estimated three-year requirements of each of the categories of customers, stated in (II), (III), and (IV), beginning with the category of highest priority, (II), and progressing thence to categories of successively lower priority, (III) and (IV), until available gas supplies were wholly committed. Any gas not reserved to meet the estimated three-year requirements of customers in categories (II), (III) or (IV) would be available to applicants for service for non-residential purposes.

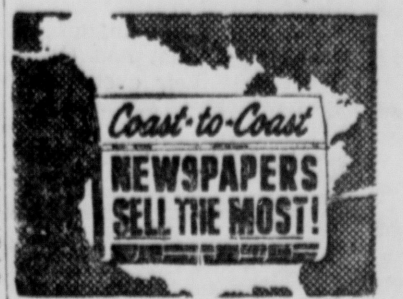

Applications for service in a category for which insufficient gas was available to meet the requirements of all applicants would be accepted in the order in which such applications were received by the Company until available gas supplies were wholly committed.

The proposed amendment further specifies that the Company would not accept applications for new or additional firm gas service for non-residential purposes, where supply of the service requested would require extension of a gas main in public streets or highways or beyond the boundaries of a single tract of private property. However, extension of mains to supply residential applicants would be continued and, where such an extension was made to supply residential applicants, non-residential uses would be supplied from such main extensions, subject to the restrictions embodied in the proposed amendment and in accordance with the other terms of the company's tariff.

The proposed amendment would require that a written application for gas service be executed, in a form prescribed by the Company, by any existing or prospective customer whose proposed new or additional use of gas would require:

1. Extension of a main or installation of a service and/or a meter.
 2. Reinforcement of a main or service or replacement of a meter with one of larger capacity.
 3. Re-establishment of service at a location where the service previously rendered was terminated by the customer more than one year prior to the date on which service is to be resumed.
 4. Supply to such customer of additional gas service in excess of 20,000 cubic feet in any twelve-month period.
- In the event that an applicant failed to take service in the amount applied for within one year after acceptance of his application by the Company, such application would be deemed to have been abandoned.

Favorite Cereals Back on Tables

WASHINGTON (AP) — Near a year after an obscure civil engineer turned hunger crusader attacked cereals as boxes of empty calories, the old favorites are back on top of the breakfast table.

What at first blushed appeared to be a buyer revolt now looks like nothing more than a fleeting spasm.

In the immediate wake of the charges leveled against dry cereals by Robert Choate in testimony before a Senate committee, many a consumer switched to highly fortified brands, and these products still claim scattered pockets of loyalty.

But the Big Three manufacturers—Kellogg, Post and General Mills—say their customers settled back into old buying habits within two months.

The nation's largest food chain, A&P, said a spot check of their stores confirmed the general pattern. Two exceptions were Chicago's Jewel Food Stores and Washington's Giant Food, regional chains which support consumer information programs. They said the heavily fortified cereals seized an additional 12 to 20 percent of the market at their stores, and are holding onto the new business.

Since Choate testified that dry cereals "have calories and little else," makers of the popular brands have introduced more nutritious products, but they have said they were planning them all along, anyway.

The government is working on two studies, one of cereal nutrition within the industry; the other of possible limits on fortification of cereals. Neither has been completed.

Choate has gone into food crusading full time from his

Washington office, but he has switched the emphasis of his attacks on the food industry to criticism of its advertising, particularly its television advertising.

"The press picked up the nutritional aspect and sort of skipped over the advertising," he said in an interview. "So I've been concentrating on the advertising."

Choate contended his testimony hit the industry hard and enhanced the in-house positions of nutritionists, who he claims had been subservient to the advertising men.

The industry-supported Cereal Institute, as well as the cereal manufacturers themselves, cite nutrition education efforts which include advertisements, pamphlets, teacher resource kits and classroom games in which the winner is the team with the best breakfast over a few weeks' time. The most extensive of the industry-wide efforts, package panels with nutritional information, got started about the same time Choate testified.

Kellogg's has increased fortification of its presweetened cereals to account for a third of the minimum daily adult requirement for eight crucial vitamins. General Mills has come out with some super-fortified "monster cereals" called "Frankenberry" and "Count Chocula," and Post is introducing "Pebbles."

The new cereals were being planned before Choate's blast and have nothing to do with him, said a Kellogg spokesman. "People are just generally interested in nutrition who have not been before."

The Federal Trade Commission acknowledged it has received responses from all six companies involved in its investigation of whether the breakfast cereal industry is controlled by so few firms that effective competition is impossible. Beyond that, FTC officials refused to comment.

We think lawnmowers are for mowing. Not for fixing.

The 22" Model 1254 is that kind of mower. It features a solid, long wearing gear-driven self-propulsion system. And the power is on the front wheels, not the back... so all you have to do is tilt the machine back to turn it. You don't have to take it out of gear.

AMF's quadramatic suspension is another dependable effort saver. You adjust cutting height from 1" to 3" while the mower is running—simply by moving a lever.

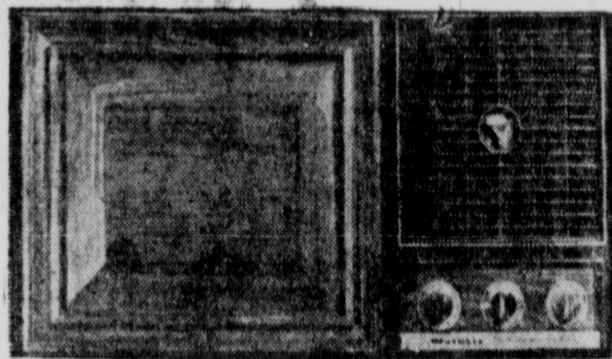

The exclusive "Flexor" blade is still another feature. It bends... and the crankshaft doesn't have to. So we can guarantee the crankshaft for the life of the mower.

There's a lot more to the 1254, too. And a lot of other AMF models. All have the famous Flexor blade and a work-saving grass catcher. Some even have electric key start.

Talks Could End U.S.-Soviet Space Competition

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Discussion here by American and Soviet experts on building common space docking systems is a major step toward cooperation and could signal an end to 14 years of intense competition between the two space powers.

All competition, especially in military space projects, will not cease in the foreseeable future, but encouraging strides are being made in many areas.

A 20-man team of Russian scientists, engineers and a cosmonaut flew to Houston Sunday night for five days of conferences to set guidelines for future sessions on the docking apparatus.

The Soviets and Americans are broken into three working groups to consider (1) compatibility of over-all methods and means of rendezvous and docking, (2) compatible radio, guidance and optical systems, and (3) docking assembly and transfer tunnels.

Although the purpose of developing common docking mechanisms is not spelled out in the agreement, a primary reason would be earth-orbit rescue missions. Eventually, this capability could be used in joint space exploration, with scientists, engineers and medical specialists of both countries working together in orbiting laboratories.

In another cooperative endeavor the two nations exchanged moon samples June 10. The Russians got six grams of material collected by the Apollo 11 and 12 astronauts, and the Americans received three grams picked up by the unmanned Luna 16.

It hasn't always been so. From the time Russia ushered in the space age with Sputnik 1 in 1957, the Soviet and American space programs have been the national barometers of technical expertise and have been used as political pawns by both premiers and presidents.

The competition was intense as the two nations charged on parallel paths toward landing men on the moon. The Soviets, far behind, gave up the moon race in 1968 and shifted attention to developing a manned space laboratory, the forerunner of which is now orbiting earth with three cosmonauts.

Last year the Soviet attitude began to change and a spirit of cooperation bloomed. It was first evidenced in the greater amount of data presented by Russian scientists at international space meetings.

MORE
The shift can be attributed to many factors—a sudden rash of Russian space successes, coupled with a cutback in the U.S. program; a rapport which has existed for years between U.S. and Russian scientists; a slight change in the over-all political climate; a realization that space exploration is expensive and that sharing would cut the costs, and the personal initiative of Thomas O. Paine, former administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Paine began his campaign in April 1969 with a letter to Academician Anatoly A. Blagonravov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. Paine outlined several possible space projects in which the nations could cooperate or coordinate. Several meetings followed, and a year later, Paine met Blagonravov in New York and suggested the common docking apparatus as a starter.

A formal letter written in July to the Soviets was answered Sept. 11, and the agreement was signed in Moscow last October.

This was followed in January by the signing of another far-reaching document that included agreement on trading lunar samples. It also calls for discussions leading to greater exchange of data on space biology and medicine and weather information; sharing of data on scientific, lunar and planetary flights; coordination of research with meteorological sounding rockets and techniques for studying the earth's environment from space.

However, other U.S. suggestions for cooperation have not had such a positive response. They include Soviet use of some expensive duplication.

Apollo laser reflectors left on the moon, coordination of planetary programs to avoid duplication, and flying Russian experiments on American spacecraft.

The Soviets likely will balk in many areas because, while developing a versatile scientific space program, they also are perfecting a strong military space capability.

So, for the foreseeable future the competition will not end altogether. But the recent cooperative moves are likely to speed up and improve the quality and quantity of scientific information coming out of both programs and perhaps eliminate some expensive duplication.

Moon Dirt A Problem

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Lunar laboratory scientists who have examined more than 200 pounds of moon samples are trying to figure out the best way to examine a tenth of an ounce of moon dirt received in an exchange with Russia.

"The approach to studying this sample is like any other soil sample from the moon except that because there is such a small amount of material you have to be extremely careful to use it in the most conservative way possible," said Dr. Paul W. Gast.

Gast, chief of the Lunar Sciences Division at the Manned Spacecraft Center, picked up two vials of the Soviet sample in Moscow two weeks ago. The 3 gram specimen was part of 101 grams of material returned to earth last September from the Set of Fertility by the automated Luna 16 spacecraft.

In return, Gast and other American officials gave Soviet scientists a 3 gram sample from Apollo 11's Tranquility base and 3 grams from the Apollo 12 landing site on the Ocean of Storms.

"It's very interesting to us that the Russian sample in some ways is different from either the 11 or 12 soil samples in that in a short distance of about a foot it goes from very fine grained material like the Apollo 11 and 12 samples to sandy-sized material," Gast said in an interview.

"This shows us the moon isn't the same everywhere on this rather minuscule scale."

Gast said Soviet laboratory studies show that the tiny rock chips from the Sea of Fertility are volcanic basalts like the rocks found on the two moon seas explored by Apollo astronauts. He said there also are some significant differences in the mineralogy and chemistry of the samples.

Gast said the actual examination of the Soviet sample should begin in a week or so after a detailed plan of investigation is devised. Some of the work will be done at the lunar receiving laboratory here and some will be done in universities that have been looking at Apollo samples.

Sullivan Man Arrested in Area Tavern

ELLENVILLE

Police arrested Linwood Peterson, 24, of Monticello, in a local tavern Monday night and turned him over to Ferndale State Police to face a charge of second degree assault that stemmed from an alleged attempt to cut up an "undercover" agent during a recent narcotics investigation in Sullivan County.

Peterson was committed to the Sullivan County jail in lieu of $1,500 pending a hearing.

According to Ferndale State Police, Peterson, who has no permanent address, was previously released in bail of $5,000 following his arrest for two felonies involving the alleged sale of dangerous drugs.

Canoer Defects

TRIESTE, Italy (UPI)—An East German who has won one gold medal and one silver medal at the 12th World Canoe Championships has left his team and asked for political asylum in Italy, police said today.

Wulf Reinicke, who won the gold medal Saturday in the Canadian one-man canoe river slalom and was on the second place East German team in the same event, left his teammates following an award ceremony Sunday night and asked for asylum, they said.

Police said Reinicke was interned at a political camp near here until Italian officials rule on his request for asylum.

Boy Scouts Elect Clapp President

Norton Clapp, a Tacoma, Wash., businessman, was recently elected president of the Boy Scouts of America.

Clapp, chairman of the board of the Weyerhaeuser Co., became head of the six-million member youth organization and promised to keep to the objectives of the BSA and to work in the continual modernizing of the program.

Attending the national council annual meeting in Atlanta, Ga., were Charles F. Carr, scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council and its chaplain, the Rev. James LeBar.

Carr said that Clapp was assistant scoutmaster, scoutmaster, and troop committeeman at Pasadena, Calif., and Tacoma, Wash., between 1924 and 1938. He served as a member and vice-president of two local councils and has been a member of the Region II Executive Committee, which service Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington, since 1948. He also has been a member of the National Executive Board since 1948 and a vice-president since 1956.

When asked about any scouting skills that are of use now, Clapp explained that he learned leadership and responsibility as a junior leader in his troop. He graduated from Occidental College and obtained a JD from the University of Chicago. He practiced law in Tacoma until 1942 and then served in the U.S. Navy until 1946.

He began with the Weyerhaeuser Company as secretary in 1938, member of the board of directors in 1946, vice-president and member of the board's executive committee in 1955, and chairman of the board of 1957 to 1960. He served as president from 1960 until 1966 when he resumed responsibilities as board chairman.

The local scout leaders expect a continuing emphasis on Boypower '76, the long-range program of the BSA, under the new president's leadership. They pointed out that he said, "we have such a broad program, and we have so much to give to America that I think we should do our level best to give it. That does mean putting the emphasis where it's needed. Some of the things we've done for years are a lot less important today than other things, and if we can't do them all, we'd better do the ones that are most needed."

Cub Pack 20 Holds Cleanup

The historic cemetery in Hurley was the scene of a massive cleanup as Cub Pack 20 launched its Project Soar program. Project Soar — Save Our American Resources — is the national conservation program of the Boy Scouts of America for 1971. Cub Pack 20 selected the historic cemetery as the site of its program and 25 boys and 14 adults participated in the cleanup program. More than five truck loads of leaves and brush were raked up and transported to the town dump. Despite the inclement weather, the program was completed in one day. The balance of the program includes planting of trees which will be furnished by the Town of Hurley.

The work party was under the direction of Cubmaster Dick Ruth and Committee Chairman Jim McCutcheon. Town Supervisor George Schroeder assisted and a town truck was used to haul some of the refuse to the town dump. In addition, James Cuniff, representing the Hurley Grange, helped the boys in their project.

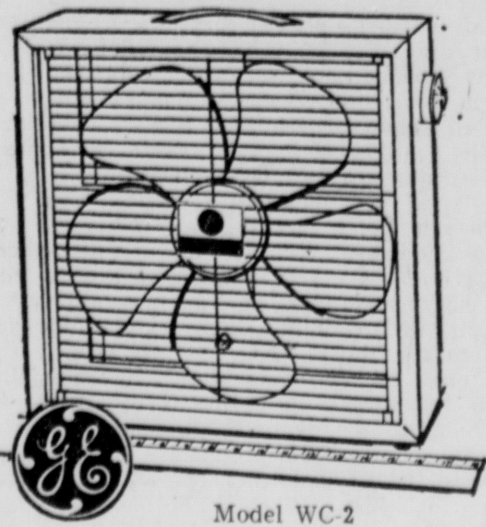

Anti-Promotion Law — WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation to stop advertising or other sales promotions which urge customers to mail in bottle caps, plastic lids and other pieces of metal or plastic which might damage postal machinery.

Such nonmailable items already are barred by law, but the Postal Service told Congress it needed the additional power to bring suit against advertisers who violate the statute.

Employee Picnic For Benedictine On July 11

KINGSTON

An employee picnic for the staff of Benedictine Hospital has been set for Sunday, July 11, at Fisherman's Meadow at Hidden Valley, according to announcement made this week by Richard M. Wagner, personnel director and coordinator for the event.

A second annual event for the employees, the picnic will take place from noon until sunset with food and beverage provided by the hospital. There will be barbecue pits, swimming facilities, fishing and a bath house available.

Hidden Valley is located four miles south of Kingston off Route 32.

Those serving on the picnic committee include, in addition to Wagner, Sister Theresa Paul, Sister Gabrielle, Mrs. Wilhelmina Wendorp, Mrs. Mildred Helmuth, Miss Mary Keating, Michael McCullough, William Hammond, Edward Cahill, Charles Lucas and Ralph Mitchell.

Those interested in attending may contact any member of the picnic committee.

Paltz School Libraries Set Summer Hours

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz Central High School and Middle School libraries will remain open this summer from 9 a.m. to noon beginning June 28, which coincides with the opening of summer school.

Students are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to do some independent study research and reading.

Students in grades 9 through 12 should use the high school facility, and those in grades 5 through 8 and the middle school library.

SHOP-RITE PUTS A STOP TO FLAVOR-LOSS!

You'll find an Alert Date stamped on Shop-Rite Brand Yogurt, Cottage Cheese, Sour Cream and other Shop-Rite perishable products. It's one of the ways Shop-Rite protects your food from loss of flavor, freshness and nutrition. It tells you the product is not to be sold after that date. It tells you there's still time for normal home consumption. (If the package is still in your refrigerator on the date stamped, don't panic. There's still time to use it up safely.) Shop-Rite guards every product in shipping, handling and in the store to keep the food you serve as fresh and wholesome as the day it was packaged. Why pay more? ... Or settle for less.

Ickes New President Of the Philharmonic

Roy L. Ickes, was elected to the Philharmonic's expanding programs. Plans for the 1971-72 subscription season of the orchestra currently include eight concerts: a series of three including a Ballet, Oratorio and Opera; and a series of five consisting of guest soloist with the full Philharmonic orchestra.

Rafalowsky specifically cited the continuing efforts of Henry Sykes and Gunther Meyer in the sustaining fund drive. He also praised Robert Winrow for his work as subscription chairman and Mrs. Ned Buoymaster for her support to Newcombe, in Kingston. Also elected were: C.B. Slutzky vice-president; Mrs. C. Lincoln Backus for her tremendous work with 953.1 persons per square mile. Alaska has the lowest population density—0.5 persons per square mile, according to the census bureau.

Norman Rafalowsky, out years, in various capacities, going president, termed the past year a signal period of change. Ickes, in his first official act, gave particular praise to the Philharmonic, as well as his second with 905.4 persons per square mile.

The final meeting of the '70-71 season was held at Manor Lake, home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Newcombe, in Kingston. Also elected were: C.B. Slutzky vice-president; Mrs. C. Lincoln Backus for her tremendous work with 953.1 persons per square mile. Alaska has the lowest population density—0.5 persons per square mile, according to the census bureau.

Norman Rafalowsky, out years, in various capacities, going president, termed the past year a signal period of change. Ickes, in his first official act, gave particular praise to the Philharmonic, as well as his second with 905.4 persons per square mile.

The HRSH Serving This Area

Ulster County patients requiring treatment in a state psychiatric hospital are now being serviced by Hudson River State Hospital, in Poughkeepsie.

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health has been informed that the Ulster unit has been established in the Cheney Building at the hospital, for adult patients. A separate unit for adolescents is maintained at the hospital, and children between the ages of five and 15 years will be admitted to Hillcrest Academy which is the Children's Unit at the hospital. Both boys and girls needing psychiatric hospitalization from Ulster County will in future be admitted to HRSH, although a few are currently being cared for at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg.

Relatives and friends are encouraged to visit patients at HRSH any day of the week. Doctors and social workers may be seen on weekdays or on weekends by appointment. The hospital may be reached via either the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge and south on Route 9 to the hospital entrance, or the Mid Hudson Bridge and north on Route 9.

HRSH also will provide after-care services in Ulster County in close cooperation with the Ulster County Mental Health Center, Dr. Emeline Hayward director, and other existing community services.

Plans call for an After-Care Clinic to be conducted the third Friday of each month except August, beginning in July, at the County Mental Health Center, 400 Broadway, Kingston. Patients will be seen by appointment only. In addition, a HRSH social service staff member will work in Ulster County four days a week seeing patients and their families, as needed.

Ulster Library Art Show, Fair On Saturday

TOWN OF ULSTER
An outdoor art show and fair for the benefit of Town of Ulster Library will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. at the library grounds, Morton Blvd., rain or shine.

Seventy-five artists from about 20 towns in the Mid-Hudson Valley will display work in 12 different media including oils, water colors, pastels, acrylics, charcoal, brush and pen, pen and pencil, woodcuts, scratchboard, silk screen and caricatures, and some photography.

There will be cash awards for those selected best by the judges. The awards are first $50; second $30 and third $20. Also four honorable mentions.

Those displaying include a broad spectrum of the community including housewives, students, secretaries, bookkeepers, professionals and illustrators, teacher, nutrition aid, industrial engineer, art gallery director, programmer, director of college language laboratory and retired persons.

Continuous entertainment will be provided by Larry Genevex and his rock group; Peter Johnson and the Horizons; contemporary folk songs by Neil Munson and an exhibition of international folk dancing by Sanders and the Nova Folk Dancers.

The fair will feature a flea market, book sale, cake sale and refreshment booths.

Those contributing toward the flea market may bring items to the library not later than Friday.

The fair this year will mark the 10th anniversary of the library. All proceeds will go towards the building fund. Admission will be free.

TOKYO (UPI) — A 90-ton steam locomotive is being given away by the Japanese National Railways. All the taker has to do is get it home.

The railway said it has only one factory that can scrap some locomotives and it is so busy that it has to get rid of some locomotives in another way.

Art Classes

Dennis Berardinelli will continue to teach art classes at Old Dutch Church although he is changing his residence to Grahamsville.
Berardinelli, who attended public schools in Newburgh, has studied at the Brooklyn Art School, the National Academy of Design and the Art Students League.
He now has a permanent studio in Grahamsville where he will display his drawings, paintings and woodcuts.

New Service Is Available

Mohican Trails District Boy Scout troops have announced a new review service available to troop committees having a Scout ready for Board of Review for Life Rank.

A troop Scoutmaster of advancement committee first requests a Board of Review for a scout qualified for Life Rank, either through the Rip Van Winkle Council office or by containing David Bright, District Advancement Chairman.

An acknowledgement form, with instructions, is then returned to the sender regarding time and place of the review, (planned for the third Wednesday of each month).

As the next step, the troop advancement committee escorts the scout to the review Board meeting where the ad hoc committee of experienced scout and community leaders review the scout regarding his qualifications, past history and future plans in preparing for scouting's top rank — Eagle.

If successful, the signed advancement form is presented to the advancement Committee man who can then obtain the Life badge to present to the scout at the troop's next Court of Honor ceremony.

Clean Air Meeting

The Ulster County Citizens Committee for Clean Air will hold a regular monthly meeting 8 p.m. Thursday at the County Office Building, Surrogate's Courtroom. All interested persons may attend.

Rochester Report

Fiscal examinations of the Town of Rochester and the Accord Fire District in that town have been completed and are on file in the respective offices according to announcement made today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

After 25 years, phosphate detergents have been replaced...

by something better.

Some current phosphate detergents.

Since 1946, phosphate detergents have been promoting algae pollution — killing fish, stagnating water, turning our lakes into swamps. Now there's something better you can use.

Arm & Hammer's new Laundry Detergent. It contains no phosphates, no NTA, no enzymes, and is biodegradable. That in itself is a big improvement over the phosphate formulas.

But eliminating pollutants isn't enough. A detergent has to clean. And the better it cleans, the better it is.

Arm & Hammer cleans. So well, in fact, that when tested by hundreds of pollution-concerned families like your own, it was preferred by the majority to their own favorite brands.

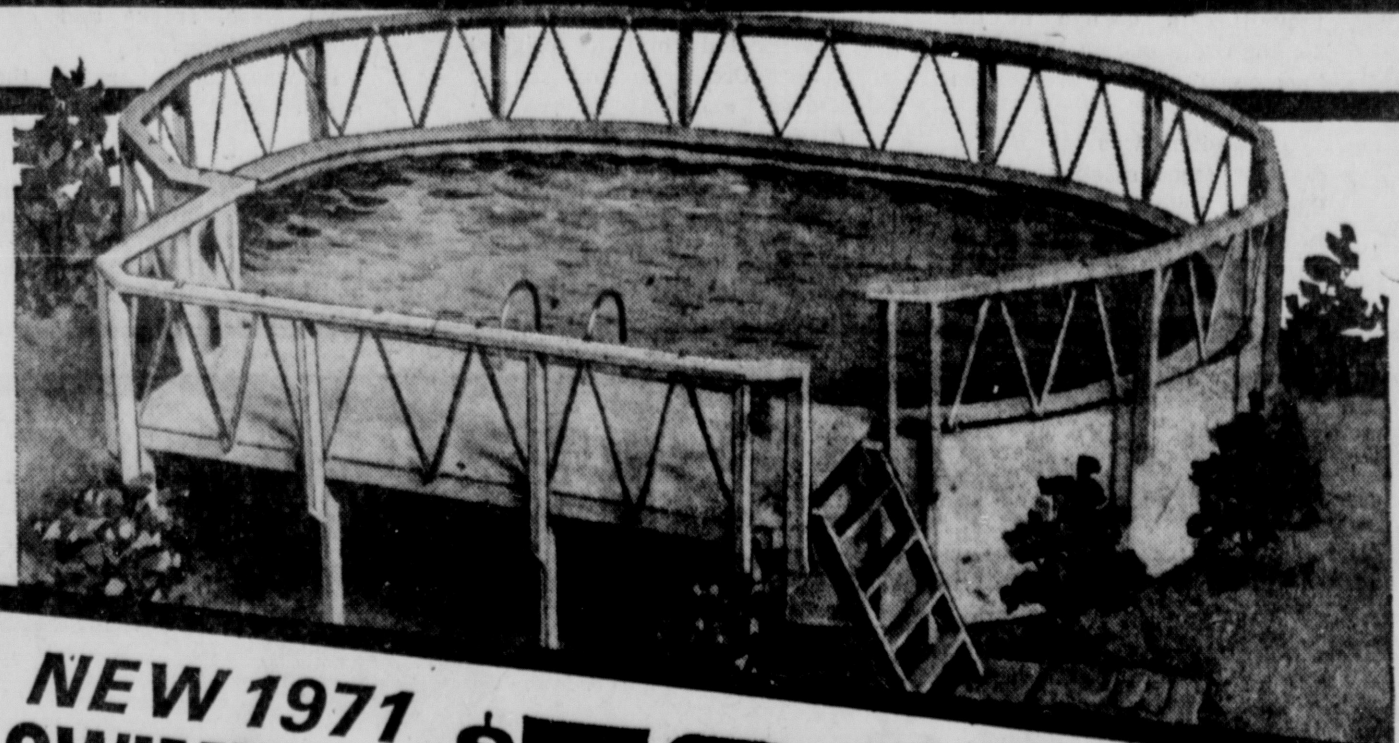

That's why Arm & Hammer can guarantee you as clean a wash as you can get, even on the most heavily soiled clothes. Or your money back.

After 25 years of polluting our waters, phosphate detergents have been replaced. By something better. Arm & Hammer Laundry Detergent.

No Action Recommended On Woodstock Petition

WOODSTOCK
Woodstock Town Planning Board has recommended to the Town Board that no action be taken on the petition from the Woodstock Citizens Association requesting a change in the Zoning Ordinance in regard to "non-profit club or recreation use."

The position was taken at a special recent meeting of the Planning Board, at which all seven members of the board were present. Six members voted in favor of this recommendation, one member, Albert Holmzer, abstained.

The reasons cited for this recommendation were that the right to establish a non-profit club for recreational use in any zone in the township had been incorporated in the original Zoning Ordinance proposed by Brown and Anthony, City Planners, in 1962. It remained unchanged through review by the Planning Commission, review by the Town Board, and several public hearings, meetings and exhibits which gave extensive exposure to proposed land use controls before adoption by the Town Board in December of 1965. The Planning Board further cited other provisions of the Zoning Ordinance which give protection from noise, smoke and commercial enterprises.

It was further noted that supplemental recreational facilities are needed in the town, and this proposed club will provide this at no cost to the town, and will pay taxes, instead of imposing cost on the town for policing, maintenance and liability insurance.

Middletown — Wallkill Merger Offers Many Fiscal Advantages

The proposed consolidation of two Orange County entities, Middletown and Town of Wallkill, to form a new Mid-Hudson city of about 35,000 population will effect many advantages especially fiscal.

If the consolidation were in effect now, the new city would receive nearly $400,000 more in per capita and revenue sharing aid under the new formula. The proposal was the chief recommendation in a special consultant's report announced this week, which could provide a model for similar reorganizations throughout the state. The recommendations are in a 224-page document prepared by the New York City management consulting firm of Knight, Gladioux, and Smith, which endorsed the new city concept as the best of several reorganizational alternatives for more efficient handling of the problems of growth in the City of Middletown and the surrounding Town of Wallkill and would promote a more rational development pattern for central Orange County.

The $50,000 study was initiated by Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress as part of the Mid-Hudson Regional Development Program, a seven-county effort being carried out by the state Urban Development Corp., and PEP. It was financed by the two communities, the Urban Development Corp., and private contributions. PEP Senior Vice President Arthur E. Weintraub, who worked closely with the consultants and local interests, explained that the reorganization study was undertaken against the backdrop of fast moving urbanization in the Middletown-Wallkill area.

Major implementation steps include authorization by the council and Town Board to pursue the consolidation objective, and the appointment of a joint citizens committee to draft a detailed charter for the new city. The proposed charter goes to the State Legislature which would be asked to authorize a referendum in each community. Citizens of both entities would vote on the proposition and both would have to approve the dissolution of that city and the town, and for the creation of a new city.

The city is expected to reach a population of 25,000 by 1985, an increase of 3,000 over 1970, and the town's population is expected to soar to 27,000 by 1985, for a 135 per cent increase. Probably the most compelling argument for consolidation, according to Bernard J. Gladioux, chief consultant on the study, is that it would permit the area to be governed as a single community while minimizing the tax burdens on its citizens.

Recreation Site Proposed In Paltz - Gardiner Area

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ County Legislator Louis H. Bevier (R-Dist. 8), has called on the County Legislature to create a riverfront park facility for residents of the New Paltz-Gardiner area.

He has filed legislation to this effect for action at the July meeting of the legislature.

The site for Bevier's proposed park is a section of riverfront at the Ulster County Farm. He said, "The property at present is being used only a few days out of the year and only a small portion is utilized at one time."

His resolution cites "... the policy of the Ulster County government to utilize county-owned property to the best advantage of the taxpayers," and the fact that "the Ulster County Planning Board has called for establishment of county parks utilizing waterfront property" as arguments in favor of his idea for the County Farm site. Bevier is not calling for an elaborate facility, but does say, "I believe the property can and should be used more frequently."

To enable local residents to make better use of the area, Bevier is asking for construction of a roadway and parking area for the site, which he says "should not be awfully expensive."

Bevier told The Freeman he would also favor a small picnic area and possibly some boating facilities.

Bevier noted that at present there is no public riverfront recreational facility sponsored by either the village, town or county in the New Paltz-Gardiner area.

The legislator said his interest in the project was quickened by Bruce Ashton, who is associated with the National Campers and Hikers Association. Bevier said Ashton approached the legislature's Youth and Recreation Committee earlier this year about making better use of the County Farm riverfront.

Investors Buy Rhinebeck Tract For $600,000

RHINEBECK Two New York City real estate investors have paid $600,000 for more than 1,000 acres of prime land bordering Route 9 here known as Astor Flats.

Mrs. Helen Battistoni, Rhinebeck realtor, handled the transaction.

The investors, who already own land in Rhinebeck in an area known as Beekman Acres, are Victor Weingarten and Roy Neuberger.

The land, north of the Village of Rhinebeck and south of the Village of Red Hook, is considered an ideal location for commercial and/or housing development.

The land has been owned for several years by a Kinderhook woman, Mrs. Jennie Kennett.

According to Mrs. Battistoni, the two men have reported no immediate plans for development.

Grand Union, which will move out of the Village of Rhinebeck, is expected to finalize its purchase of 15 acres in this area within a few weeks.

Grand Union would own about 1,000 feet of frontage on Route 9 and a depth of 700 feet. A new food shopping center is anticipated.

Fair to Get Award Money From State

RHINEBECK The Dutchess County Fair will be the recipient of its fully anticipated share of state revenues for 1970 premium awards, already paid out, despite the state budget cuts.

Manager S. Richard Lloyd did not know whether the fair would receive the same $12,000 for the 1971 fair next year, however. The Board of Directors, Dutchess County Agricultural Society, was recently notified that the $12,000 would be forthcoming instead of $6,000 announced after the budget cuts were made in Albany.

The same policy will be followed throughout the state for county fairs, according to Lloyd.

The Dutchess County Fair distributed about $35,000 in premium awards last year, and voted this year not to cut that amount despite the portent of less state funds available. The reason given was to maintain the high quality of exhibitions.

The Board is also considering constructing an 80 by 150 foot judging pavilion to replace the tent currently in use for judging livestock. Tent space has become cramped with the increasing size of the fair.

Nuptials Vows Are Exchanged

Marriage vows were exchanged on June 5, 1971 by Nancy Jean Bolinder of Saugerties and David Nichol Ellis of Oneonta in the Saugerties United Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Bolinder of Clermont Apartments, Saugerties. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Ellis of 3 Blue Hills Court, Saugerties.

Officiating at the 2 p.m. ceremony was the Rev. William Baudendistel. Mrs. Beatrice Bright was organist and Michael Kelly, baritone, sang traditional wedding selections.

White gladioli, carnations and pompons decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of imported organza and chantilly lace styled with high ring neckline, full length sleeves with cuffs with accents of lace and ribbon. Her cathedral length mantilla was held by a bow headpiece and she carried a nosegay of white roses with daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Stephan Chase of Park Forest, Ill., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an empire gown of lavender sheer nylon in pin stripes. Her headpiece consisted of a matching picture hat and she carried a medley of yellow and white daisies, pink miniature carnations with bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Nancy Boynton of Watertown, N.Y., Carlene Huntington of Seneca Falls, classmates of the bride. Their mint and blue gowns were identical in styling to that worn by the honor attendant and they carried the same arrangement of flowers. Mary Beth Chase, the bride's niece, served as flower girl in a pink gown. She carried a Cinderella bouquet of pink roses, miniature carnations and purple statice with baby's breath.

Joseph K. Ellis of Saugerties was best man for his brother. Ushering were Todd Ellis, brother of the bridegroom; Stephan Chase, Park Forest, Ill., the bride's brother-in-law; Keith Jordan of Shokan and Timothy Stenson of Kingston, classmates of the bridegroom.

Approximately 150 guests were received at a reception given in the church hall.

For her wedding trip to York Beach, Maine the bride wore a white dress accented with yellow embroidery and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a student at Ithaca College School of Music. Her husband was graduated from State University College at Oneonta in May of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will be residing in Oneonta, N.Y.

Orr - Neri Wedding Announced

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Coralie Ellen Orr, 333 Main Street, Kingston, and Frank Bart Neri, Newark, N.J., on Saturday, June 12 at 12 noon. The Rev. Joseph LeBarr officiated at the ceremony. Joe Liguori sang traditional wedding selections, and was accompanied by James Sweeney. Two baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the altar. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Orr, 333 Main Street Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neri.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a satin, empire, A-line gown. Venise lace trimmed the waist, cuffs of the bishop sleeves, ring neckline and hemline. The attached chapel train was bordered with the same lace and white daisies spotted the gown. Her two tiered silk illusion veil was held by a stylized headpiece of daisies and organza flowers. She carried a colonial nosegay with three red roses, centered around white carnations and white satin streamers.

Mrs. Marilyn Lonn, sister of the bride, 66 West Chester Street, Kingston, served as matron of honor, and Mrs. Virginia Ann Rowland, sister of the bride, RD 2, Gettysburg, Pa., was an attendant. They wore gowns of multicolor floral print, fashioned with mandarin sleeves, cuffed at the wrists. Wide Venise lace banding encircled the empire waistlines and they wore large lacy straw hats with matching ribbons. The attendants carried colonial nosegays of pink, lilac and white carnations.

John W. Orr of Winston Salem, N.C., brother of the bride, was best man. Nicholas Neri, brother of the bridegroom, Edison, N.J., was an usher.

A reception for 50 guests was held at Kurta's Restaurant, Glenford.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride wore a navy blue A-line dress with red accessories.

Mrs. Neri is a 1965 graduate of Kingston High School and

MRS. FRANK BART NERI

(Lakeside Studio)

attended Ulster County Community College. She is employed by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Kingston. Her husband, a 1948 graduate of Westside High School, Newark, N.J., is employed as a paving contractor in Newark, N.J. He served with the U.S. Army, 82nd Battalion, Fort Benning, Ga.

The couple will reside at 29-B Millers Lane, Kingston.

Wednesday Concert

A band concert jointly sponsored by the City of Kingston and American Federation of Musicians, Local No. 215, will be presented Wednesday, June 30 at 8 p.m. at Academy Green, Kingston. M.E. Morrette will conduct.

Among the selections to be performed will be the Star Spangled Banner; Kiefer's Special March; Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna Overture; My Dream Sonata; Victor Herbert - Favorites including March of the Toys, Because You're You, When You're Away, I'm Falling in Love with Someone, Gypsy Love Song, Italian Street Song, Kiss Me Again; Sugar and Spice; The Brave Tin Soldier; On the Mall March; America, Our Heritage.

Soloists include: Reginald Deyo, tenor; George Cosenza, saxophone; Keith Dougherty, trumpet. Trumpet quartet members are Myron Rossi, Reginald Deyo, Max Aduchetsky, Frank Ferraro. Trustee of the Music Performance Trust Fund is Peter Ferraro.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

DEAR MRS. POST: I would like my bridesmaids to carry baskets of mixed summer flowers instead of bouquets. How are the baskets carried, over the arm of the hands? How long are the handles?

Sharon

Dear Sharon: The style of the basket determines the length of the handle. Your florist undoubtedly will show you several models from which you can choose.

The bridesmaids hold the baskets by the handle, directly in front of them, using both hands. They should try to carry the baskets so they are all held just below the waistline.

DEAR MRS. POST: My daughter is being married this summer. Should our minister receive a formal invitation to the reception, or should he be personally invited?

Mrs. J. Carter

Dear Mrs. Carter: He should receive a formal invitation. It may sound like an after thought if you ask him by telephone or in person. However, it would be thoughtful to say, shortly after the invitations go out "We do hope you will be able to come to the reception and join us at our table."

DEAR MRS. POST: I know that when a man and woman go to a restaurant with benches along the wall, she sits on the bench facing out, and he sits on the chair facing the wall. This makes it very difficult for the man to summon a waiter. It is awkward to keep turning around to look for one. In this situation, what is correct? Must he patiently do his best, or may the lady, who can easily catch a waiter's eye from her position, do the summoning?

GEORGE

DEAR GEORGE: This is one situation where a woman should usurp her escort's prerogative. The man should make one or two attempts, and then if he has failed, ask the lady's help. He may ask her to keep watch and tell him when a waiter is approaching, or suggest that she signal the waiter herself.

To make your wedding day the happy, memorable occasion you want it to be, my booklet "Your Guide to Formal wedding Procedure" is just what you need. To get a copy, send 35 cents in coins, to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman.

Judo Demonstration

The Rosary-Altar Society of St. Catharine Laboure Church, Lake Katrine, closed its season with a bang — a Judo bang, that is. Highlight of the final meeting until fall was a Judo demonstration put on by the Ulster Judo Club. Participating in the show and scene stealers were seven youngsters, Karen Miggins and Laureen Young, both seven years old; Paul Young, nine years of age; and Bobby and Kathy Miggins and Joanne and Peter Minkler. Also demonstrating means of self-protection were Jeanine LaWare and Sandy Young while Paul Young and Bob Miggins demonstrated and coordinated the show.

The Society will be participating in the parish bazaar to be held August 20, 21 and 22 by manning three booths. All women of the parish will be asked to donate time and items, if at all possible. Joseph Schnell, chairman of the bazaar, spoke to the members and mentioned how their help was needed. This will be the Society's only activity until next September.

Card Party

Judea Shrine No. 12 will hold a pinocle card party Saturday at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, Kingston, at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served and awards presented. The public is invited.

Annual Picnic

The annual picnic and outing of First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue, Kingston, will be held Saturday, June 26 at Hidden Valley, Whiteport Road, Kingston.

The group will arrive at Hidden Valley's Fawn Meadow pavilion at 1 p.m.

All Day Fair

Women's Guild of Flatbush Reformed Church have set the date for its annual all day fair as Saturday, Sept. 11.

Members are already working on the project which promises to be bigger and better than ever.

La Leche League Meeting June 29

"The Art of Breastfeeding: Overcoming Difficulties" will be discussed at the next meeting of Kingston La Leche League on Tuesday, June 29, at 8 p.m. at the home of Carolyn Shackelford, 9 Meadowbrook Drive, Kingston.

Mrs. Gordon Usticke, La Leche League Leader, will lead the discussion which supplements material found in The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding, the official La Leche League manual. Copies of the book will be available for sale or loan at the meeting.

Any women interested in breastfeeding is invited to attend. Nursing babies are also welcome.

The La Leche League booth at the recent Kingston Plaza Flea Market featuring hand-made clothes, toys, and baby carriers, as well as framed hand decorated nursery rhymes, mobiles, and homemade gingerbreadmen was a success. Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase additional books and pamphlets on childbirth, breastfeeding, and child care for the Le Leche library. The League also hopes to donate copies of The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding to area obstetricians, pediatricians, and hospitals.

For detailed information, contact Mrs. Usticke or Mrs. Shackelford.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Holmzer of Wappinger Falls, formerly of Kingston and Zena, announce the birth of a son, Clinton Carl, born May 30.

Mr. Holmzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Holmzer of Zena and is employed at Mattawan State Hospital. Mrs. Holmzer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Coakley of Northport, L.I. and is a former teacher of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie school systems.

Family Centered Maternity Asso.

The newly organized Family Centered Maternity Association of Ulster County will hold its final organizational meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock at the YWCA on Clinton Avenue. The constitution will be adopted, officers will be elected and working committees formed.

The purpose of the Family

Centered Maternity Association is to make all aspects of maternity family centered. Family Centered Maternity includes the husband's right to be present with his wife while she is awake and aware during their baby's birth, the establishment in hospitals of rooming-in, demand feeding and visits to the mother by siblings of the baby while the mother is in the hospital.

The Association plans to bring about Family Centered Maternity in Kingston by providing education and training in childbirth for husbands and wives; securing cooperation of hospitals, physicians and nurses for Family Centered Maternity and offering pertinent information and materials to interested parents, doctors, nurses and hospitals.

Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, to contact Gordon Usticke at 43 Washington Avenue, Kingston.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 © 1971, by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbors still have their Christmas decorations up! It's not just a wreath or a Christmas tree. They have a huge Noel sign across the front of their house, and on the lawn there's a life-sized Santa Claus in a sleigh with a woodcut of reindeer.

The flowers have begun to bloom and the grass is green already, and this Santa in his sleigh makes the whole neighborhood look ridiculous. What should we do?

THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR

DEAR FOLKS: In the first place, your neighbors make only themselves look ridiculous, so don't do anything. Besides, it could be to your advantage. When giving directions on how to get to your home, just say, "It's the house next to the one with the Noel across the front and the Santa on the lawn. You can't miss it!"

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where someone said if a girl in a small town proved to be "easy" for the guys if she wanted to get married, she had better leave town because guys talk.

Well, girls talk about guys who take them out for only one thing, and if the guys don't have to leave town, why should the girls?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Because in spite of all the women's "libbing it up" — it's still a man's world.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close girl friends. I'll call them "Blondie" and "Red." My problems is that these girls are not speaking to each other. It's not just a little spat that might blow over soon, they have been bitter enemies for a long time. I am going to be married soon and I want them both in my wedding party. (I was maid of honor for both of them.)

Blondie says if Red is in the wedding party, I can count HER out. On the other hand, Red says she doesn't care if Blondie is in the wedding party or not, but she'll ignore her if she is. Abby, I have to leave either one of my friends out, so what should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Don't let Blondie force you to make a decision. Tell her that you want her in your wedding party, but you intend to invite whomever else you want, and if she chooses to accept or decline, the decision is HERS!

Gorman in Second Match

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—With the traditional opening men and women's rounds out of the way, the real work started today in the 85th Wimbledon tennis championships.

At stake was the third round of the world's most prestigious tennis tournament and both men and women's seeded players were back in force.

Not all of them though. Some of the seeds have taken some knocks.

In brilliant sunshine Tuesday, more than 22,000 fans visited the courts when seventh-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania went down in straight sets to George Goven of France, following unseeded Tom Gorman's first day ousting of eighth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa. Australia's Tony Roche, ranked fourth in the world, made his quickest exit ever from Wimbledon. He followed up his opening singles defeat with a loss in the mens doubles to Drysdale and Nikki Pilić of Yugoslavia. He was partnered in the top-seeded pair with defending singles champion John Newcombe of Australia, already in the third round.

Top-seeded Rod Laver meets Ray Moore of South Africa in the red-haired Australian's bid for his fifth singles crown. Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the fourth seed, should have little trouble with Britain's John Paish. Fifth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Gum Springs, Va., meets France's Patrick Poisy. Clark Graebner of New York, Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Australia's Ken Rosewall, who lost to Newcombe in the finals a year ago, all won Tuesday.

Billie Jean King, the second seed this year, opens her bid for her fourth women's singles crown against Australia's Wendy Gilchrist. Elyon Goolagong of Australia, the third seed and the reigning French champion, opposes Kris Kemmer, of Los Angeles.

Top-seeded Margaret Court of Australia, made the third round Tuesday and rests from singles play today. The defending champion opened the traditional ladies day program with a booming 6-0 6-0 shutout victory over countrywoman Lorraine Robinson.

Other seeds in action today: Rosie Casals of San Francisco, against Kerry Melville, Australia; Virginia Wade meets fellow Briton Marylyn Greenwood; Nancy Richey Gunter, of San Angelo, Tex., meets Patty Ann Reese of St. Petersburg, Fla., and France's Francoise Durr takes the court against Miraslava Holubova of Czechoslovakia.

Harrelson Just a Pupil

SARATOGA, Wyo. (UPI)—Ken Harrelson is just another pupil to Saratoga golf pro Bob Toski.

Harrelson, who retired from baseball Monday, is due in Saratoga early next week to take golf lessons from Toski.

Terry Bradshaw Stars In Airplane Drama

HEREFORD, Tex. (UPI)—Terry Bradshaw spoke from first-hand experience. When the plane's in trouble, let the girls do the praying and let the quarterback play with the landing gear.

"I guess the good Lord wanted us to be here," Bradshaw said Tuesday. "I was a little nervous, but the girls were doing all the praying. I was just up there doing what the pilot told me to do."

Bradshaw, a quarterback for the Pittsburgh Steelers and the No. 1 pick in the 1970 pro draft, did not compare a bad landing gear with the pass rush of a 270-pound defensive end. But fellow passenger Debbie Patton, Miss Teen-Age America of 1970, said, "that was the scariest I've ever been in my life."

The trouble occurred Tuesday on a flight from Midland, Tex., to Hereford. Part of the two-engine plane's electrical system failed, fouling the mechanisms on the right side of the plane including the right engine, the landing gear and the radio.

The plane was over Lubbock, Tex., and the pilot, James Gentry of Hereford, only had enough time to tell Lubbock Municipal Airport to prepare for a possible crash landing before the radio went completely dead.

The plane circled the Lubbock airport for 15 minutes while Bradshaw wrestled with the landing gear, finally knocking it loose and manually lowering it into position.

"We had to climb with one engine," Bradshaw said. "They say you are just not supposed to make one-engine climbs."

"That was the scariest I've ever been in my life," Miss Patton said. "It was a close call. If Terry had not been able to get that landing gear down I don't know what we would have done."

before "The Hawk" attempts to become a regular on the PGA tour.

"I'm going to try and spend some time with him and help him get an understanding of what the rigors of the tour are," Toski says. "Ken's got golf in his blood and he's got to play to get it out of his system."

"His success depends on whether or not he has the mental stability to handle the tour," Toski says. "It's a different kind of pressure on the tour than on the baseball diamond."

"I've worked with no less than 50 pros who are on the tour," said Toski, who began playing golf 38 years ago. "I've worked with so many of them it's ridiculous to go through and list them."

But Toski admits Tony Jacklin, Jim Colbert, Hugh Royer and Larry Henson are some of his younger pupils. Toski, who spends his winter months as a pro in Florida, says he travels "everyplace to give lessons."

Toski was a regular on the pro tour from 1949 through 1957 when "I turned solidly a teaching professional."

Now the author of several books on golfing technique is "lucky to participate in one or two tournaments a year."

Along with his teaching and writing Toski works with the Hughes Sports Network in covering some of the "nation's big tournaments," is in constant demand as a public speaker and runs golf clinics across the United States.

Before he devoted his life to teaching, Toski was a busy man with the clubs as a touring professional.

"I won six tournaments in less than 12 months during 1954," Toski says, adding he was also the leading money winner on the tour that year.

One of his wins was the world's championships in Chicago, which, in 1954, was the first tournament to offer a $50,000 first place prize.

Toski has regrets he's not making the pro tour, but usually they're overcome.

"I still miss competitive golf very much," he says. "But the fact I do miss playing competitively is overcome because I've been so successful as a teacher."

"You don't make a lot of money teaching," explains Toski, who has three brothers that are also teaching professionals. "It's a love I have for the game and knowing I communicate well that satisfies me as a teacher."

Gil Lectures — Mets Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A rare clubhouse meeting and some thing almost as unusual, a near shutout of the Pirates by a rookie pitcher, has pumped fresh blood into the New York Mets in the National League pennant race.

Williams, a 23-year-old right-hander who grew up in Great Neck, N. Y., about 10 miles from Shea Stadium, was a three-hit shutout pitcher until two were out in the Pittsburgh 9th. Then Roberto Clemente got his third hit, an infield single, and after Al Oliver's single put the tying run on base, Frisella came on to retire Richie Hebner on a long fly to preserve Williams' third major league victory.

Before the game, Hodges and the Mets had a get-together behind closed doors.

"Yes, I usually don't do this with a team in the middle of a series, but I felt some things had to be said," Hodges said. "I like to keep these things private, but I will say that I gave the guys an idea of what was on my mind. I didn't get loud, I never get loud with these kind of things."

Williams didn't feel that the pre-game discussion added any pressure to his game, but "it might have helped," the Mets' pitcher added. "Everybody winning 7-4 and then losing 2-1; and Cleveland divided a pair with Boston, winning 9-3 before losing 2-0. California's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

In the National League, Atlanta shut out Montreal, 4-0; the Mets trimmed Pittsburgh, 3-1; Cincinnati downed Philadelphia, 6-1; San Francisco shut out Chicago, 2-0; Houston dropped San Diego, 4-2; and St. Louis topped Los Angeles, 6-5.

Sonny Siebert notched his 100th major league victory, a six-hitter, that eased Boston past Cleveland in the second game of their doubleheader. The victory was Siebert's 16th this season and ended a four-game losing streak for the Red Sox pitcher.

Ron Reed fired a three-hitter and the Braves struck for four runs in the third to top the Expos. Reed blanked Montreal on one hit in the ninth, losing pitcher Steve Renko, until the ninth.

Until the ninth, when Stargell doubled, Williams had easily disposed of the slugging Pittsburgh left fielder who has been a life-long nemesis of the Mets. Stargell struck out, Roberto Clemente got his third hit, an infield single, and after Al Oliver's single put the tying run on base, Frisella came on to retire Richie Hebner on a long fly to preserve Williams' third major league victory.

Ron Reed fired a three-hitter and the Braves struck for four runs in the third to top the Expos. Reed blanked Montreal on one hit in the ninth, losing pitcher Steve Renko, until the ninth.

Williams didn't feel that the pre-game discussion added any pressure to his game, but "it might have helped," the Mets' pitcher added. "Everybody winning 7-4 and then losing 2-1; and Cleveland divided a pair with Boston, winning 9-3 before losing 2-0. California's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Yanks Earn Split

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Bahnsen celebrated his sixth straight complete game victory Tuesday night by returning to his army camp.

In the past year, his two-week summer military stints brought the New York Yankee right-hander nothing but misery in the form of a 1-7 record while pitching on one-day passes.

Right now, though, it seems nothing can go wrong for Bahnsen, whose 2-1 triumph over Detroit in the second game of a doubleheader boosted his 1971 record to 7-6. The Tigers jumped on Mel Stottlemyre and two relievers for five runs in the ninth inning and took the opener 7-4.

Bahnsen, who started out the season dismally, was 1-6 until he got started on his streak. "The frame of mind I was in then, that was the low point of my career," said the 26-year-old hurler.

"I'm surprised I'm doing as well as I am now, but I knew I wasn't as bad as I 6."

"I'm in a groove now where I feel I can finish every game I start. A complete game means more to me now than 10 strikeouts," said the 1968 American League rookie of the year who was noted for his fastball.

The Tigers nicked Bahnsen for eight hits, the most he has allowed during his streak, in which he's yielded only 33 hits and seven earned runs in 54 innings.

In the opener, Dick McAuliffe hit a two-run, ninth-inning homer to give Detroit a 4-3 lead. Al Kaline then drove in a run with an infield out and Jimmie Price laced a two-run single.

Twins Add Pair

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bruce Ericson, a Duluth native, and Bill Kissell, Covina, Calif., Tuesday became the 22nd and 23rd players to sign 1971 professional contracts with the Minnesota Twins, who took 52 players in the draft two weeks ago.

Ericson, a right-handed pitcher, will report to St. Cloud in the northern League. Kissell, an 18-year-old shortstop, will report to the Sarasota outlet in the Gulf League.

Kingston is 6-1 on the year and that puts the Braves even in the standings with the Poughkeepsie Lasers. The Braves, with a .318 team batting average and two shutouts in seven games, are home tonight at 8 p.m. in Dietz Stadium to meet the Cornwall Missiles.

Stuhler's 81 Leads NWGA

KINGSTON Sarah June Stuhler, a 4-handicap player who has won everything in sight in the Northeastern Women's Golf Association and many other places—added her second Wiltwyck Country Club title Tuesday.

Miss Stuhler, daughter of Frank Stuhler, prominent Antlers (Amsterdam) professional, toured Wiltwyck's par 37-37-74 layout in 41-40-81 to carve out a one-stroke win over Mrs. A. L. Sayles, the veteran campaigner out of the Edison Club. Mrs. Sayles carded 40-42-82.

Mrs. Werner Kollin, the publicity director for the women's division at Wiltwyck, led by a strong showing by the host players in Class B, by sweeping both gross and net honors. She grossed 45-43-88 and had lowest net round of the day with 88-20-68.

It was the second career victory for Mrs. Kollin in divisional play in the Northeastern. She scored her first win at Mohawk a couple of years ago.

Mrs. Arthur Motzkin led the Wiltwyck Class A contingent with a fourth place finish in gross at 43-43-86 and with 14 handicap netted 72 for first place in the A division.

Mrs. Richard L. Treat of Wiltwyck posted 47-43-90 gross and her 90-16-74 net was in third place. Mrs. Clifford Spiesman, Wiltwyck's other Class A player, had 46-43-89 gross and netted 77 with 12 handicap.

Mrs. Edward Murray of Mohawk trailed Mrs. Kollin by one shot (45-44-89) for Class B low gross honors. Wiltwyck Golfers took the next two places, as Mrs. Howard DeWitt posted 46-48-94; Mrs. Harvey Bostic, 48-48-96.

Mrs. Gogg earned low gross prize in Class B with 94-22-72. Mrs. DeWitt had net 74 and Mrs. Bostic net 75 to round out Wiltwyck's fine showing in the division.

Mrs. Kollin was pleasantly surprised with her fine performance in Class B. "I hadn't played that well in quite some time," she said. Mrs. Kollin, a member of one of Ulster County's best known golfing families, made the turn in 45, then proceeded to rack up five pars on the ninth before reaching the challenging No. 17 hole.

"I was tensed up when I went to the tee," she recalled, "and ran into a little bit of trouble." She picked up an 8 there and finished with five for a 43.

The glamour girl of the Kollin family was among the missing Tuesday. Nancy Kollin was busy struggling with a Regents examination and had to forego a chance at the tournament.

McCovey May Have Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants placed first baseman Willie McCovey on the disabled list Tuesday night and indicated he may undergo surgery on his left knee.

After the game with the Chicago Cubs, Dr. E. C. Sailer said he and a specialist had run some tests on McCovey's ailing knee and found some cartilage damage.

To replace McCovey, the Giants called up Ed Goodson from their Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League. McCovey, whose knee has been bothering him more and more recently, has a current batting average of .292 in 53 games this season with 11 home runs and 39 RBIs.

Drug Rehabilitation Approved for GIs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved $17.1 million for President Nixon's program to rehabilitate GI drug addicts. It also boosted other White House spending plans for veterans' medical care by $120 million. The funds were included in a $18.1 billion money bill that would support the Veterans Administration, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the nation's space program and a number of small independent agencies for the business year which starts July 1.

The committee's bill represented a net increase of $671 million over what the President asked, some of his requests being increased but others cut. The White House request for an additional $14 million, on top of the $3.1 million Nixon originally sought to step up treatment of GI drug addicts, was approved to pay for 32 drug rehabilitation centers which the VA Tuesday said would be opened this year.

The VA rehabilitation program dovetailed with a Pentagon announcement, also made Tuesday, that it will spend $40.5 million for another part of Nixon's program to identify GI addicts.

The 32 rehabilitation centers, five of which are now operating with the remaining 27 to be opened by Oct. 1, would each have 15 beds plus outpatient facilities to treat 200 patients. The committee in all added $134 million to Nixon's request for VA medical care, including the drug center funds, with the bulk of that increase to provide care for an expected 85,500 patients per day rather than 79,000 the administration planned for.

747 Americans In Foreign Jails

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department reports there are 747 Americans in jail in 50 foreign countries on various drug charges, and that the number has risen sharply in the past 12 months.

Barbara M. Watson, administrator of the bureau of security and consular affairs, said a great majority of those jailed were young persons, under 30, who sometimes did not realize the stiff sentences they could get for drug violations.

She told a State Department news conference Tuesday that while U.S. officials would offer as much assistance as possible, they could not interfere in the legal systems of other countries to affect release of youthful offenders.

The State Department said the number of Americans imprisoned overseas on drug counts rose from 190 in May, 1969 to 556 in May, 1970 and 747 as of last month.

Three Arrested In Greene Co.

CATSKILL

Accused of disorderly conduct and harassment during an incident at the Northway Campsite in the Town of Hunter at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, three Scarsdale young men were in the Greene County jail today awaiting arraignment.

State Police Sergeant R. W. Miller of Leeds identified the trio as Gerald Monteiro, 20, and his brothers, David, 16, and Robert, 23, all of the Westchester community.

According to authorities the three engaged in a fight on the state-operated camp property. They were taken in custody by Trooper H. J. Arp.

Gerald Monteiro also was cited for possessing a deadly weapon, a switch-blade knife, troopers said.

ONE OF LARGEST—This 423-carat sapphire was presented to the Smithsonian Institution by Mrs. John A. Logan of Washington D. C. Its value estimated at three quarters of a million dollars, the faceted rectangular gem is 1 1/2 by 2 inches in size, mounted in a brooch surrounded by 20 diamonds weighing about 16 carats. It is the largest blue sapphire of quality to go on public display and is believed to be one of the three largest in the world. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Surrogate Is Named for Columbia Co.

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller today named Columbia County Attorney Thomas P. Kennedy of Hudson as surrogate of that county.

Kennedy, 61, will serve through the end of the year, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of R. Waldron Herzberg.

Kennedy is a former Hudson City Court judge and Hudson County district attorney. He will receive $27,000 a year in the post.

Boys State Dinner to Fete 14 on Thursday

KINGSTON

The 25th annual Boys State testimonial dinner, sponsored by the Ulster County American Legion will be held at the Gov. Clinton Hotel Thursday night at 7 p.m.

The 14 young men to be honored include Donald P. Wells, John D. Kahil and Daniel B. Brown of Ontario High School; James H. Meigel and Ronald M. Hall of Rondout Valley High School; John E. Harris, John M. Kuehn of Kingston High School; J. Keith Festa of Marlboro Central High School; Thomas D. Masten of Wallkill Senior High School; Peter T. Rock of New Paltz High School; Robert Casciaro of Highland Junior Senior High School; Robert F. Joseph Jr. of Ellenville Central School; Robert J. Brady of Saugerties High School and Kevin Barry Mathews of John A. Coleman High School.

The Boys State program will be held at SUNY College at Morrisville from June 27 to July 3.

P. J. Beichert, commander of Post 1298 in Esopus, is chairman of the county Boys' State program and a member of the board of directors of the New York Department Boys State.

No Positive Findings From Testing of Meat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—First returns from a new government testing program show no residues of a controversial synthetic hormone in the nation's meat supply, it was learned today.

The reports come from a sampling program launched by the Agriculture Department in April to detect in meat from beef steers and lambs any residues of diethylstilbestrol (DES), which has been reported to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

A department official said the new program got under way in mid-April. By the end of that month reports showed 95 cattle and 85 lambs had been sampled with no "positive" residue findings.

The program moved into high gear in May. Returns for that month, which will probably not be available for some weeks, are expected to show tests on a sample of about 500 animals.

The new testing program is producing its first results at a time when use of DES in feeding livestock — primarily cattle — is under attack. The synthetic female hormone promotes fast and efficient weight gains in livestock, but Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., recently called on the government to ban its use on grounds that residues were getting into the meat supply.

Federal regulations for the use of DES require farmers to stop feeding the chemical 48 hours before livestock are slaughtered. Experts say that when this is done, all traces are eliminated from the animal's system before it is turned into meat.

Proxmire and other critics have contended the hormone should be banned because past tests showed the withdrawal requirements were not being complied with in some cases.

Former Ruler In Charge of Elks Services

KINGSTON

On June 14, Albert Macholdt, past exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge 550, conducted Flag Day services at the Elks Lodge on John Street.

All Lodge officers participated, with Charles Ryan giving the history of the flag and Bruce Miller answering with the response. Rev. Robert Schellenberger closed the service with the Benediction.

At the regular Lodge meeting held earlier, exalted ruler Frank Cardinale announced the following committees and their chairmen for the 1971-72 year: Housing, George Karibinos and Jack Sharot; auditing, Walt Hubbard and Bruce Miller; lapstation, Jack Sharot; membership, John Woolley; investigating, Charles Ryan; social and community welfare, Robert Smith; youth, Herbert Van Deusen; scholarship, Bob Scutt; national foundation, John Woolley and public relations, Bob Scutt.

Heart Health

By MID-HUDSON HEART ASSOCIATION, INC.

KINGSTON

Seasons are no respecter of strep throat. People are as apt to get a strep throat in the heart of summer as they are in winter, and everyone is cautioned not to think "it's just another cold."

Actually, strep throat is the same disease as scarlet fever, but without a rash. It is highly communicable and dangerous. It must be treated early before it can bring on ailments that could kill or disable.

Perhaps the above may sound over-cautious but strep throat can lead to rheumatic fever, a disease that may have lifelong consequences.

Rheumatic fever causes more long-time crippling illness in children than any other disease and it particularly attacks children of school age. For the free informative booklet "Now You Can Protect Your Child" write or phone the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, 72 Main Street, Kingston, N.Y.

House Fire Near Bridge Under Probe

RHINECLIFF

Firefighters from three northern Dutchess departments on Tuesday combined forces in battling fire that swept a vacant house on the estate of J. R. Carmichael of New York City, which was located on Wilbur Road at Route 199 near the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge approach.

Chief Detective Charles Borchers of the sheriff's office said the origin of the blaze was suspicious and an investigation is underway.

Dutchess County Fire Control officials said Rhinecliff Fire units were called out at 4:16 a.m. and later all companies from Rhinebeck and a tanker from Hillside Fire District were dispatched to the scene to assist.

Firemen attacked the raging flames with several 2 1/2-inch hoses. An engine from Red Hook moved into the Rhinecliff fire station to cover up.

It was reported that firemen reported back in service at 9:37 a.m. The building had been used some time ago as a summer home.

Tuesday Films In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

Tuesday morning film programs will be offered by the Children's Room of the Ellenville Public Library and Museum this summer, beginning June 29 at 10 a.m.

The program will be open to all ages without prior registration on a first-come, first-served basis.

Space limitations necessitate closing these programs to camp groups.

The hour-long program June 29 will consist of three films from the Ramapo Catskill Library System. They are Daisy, Sory of a Boo!, and Laurel and Hardy's Music Box.

The July 6 program will feature Walt Disney's Hound that Thought He was a Raccoon.

The programs are scheduled to last from 10 to 11 a.m. every Tuesday morning the Children's Room of the Library.

Story Hours At Stone Ridge

STONE RIDGE

The Summer Story Hour at the Stone Ridge Library will begin on Tuesday, June 29, at 10 a.m. The story program will be held on the four following Tuesdays, July 6, 13, 20, and 27.

The regular story group for preschool children will continue, while groups will be added for children who have completed grades kindergarten through fourth.

The program is to include movies, stories, and the opportunity for the children to check out books to read at home.

ANYONE! We're seeking mature, responsible, intelligent men or women with a sharp business sense who want to make money. We have national marketing rights to the world's oldest and most famous canned food line. Therefore we need local distributors (exclusive area rights) to make this firm's new and hottest selling - products in the multi-billion dollar snack and dessert market. We establish our own tail outlets, supply you with everything. You do no selling. All you do is service your accounts. Part

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have many creative ideas now and can see the best way to take some chance that will increase your prosperity. You are also able to enjoy the recreations that make your dreams come true. Do those things for attachment that bring you more affection. Have a ball. Be happy.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can take care of all kinds of responsibilities today with promptness and efficiency. More romance with mate is in the offing in p.m. Don't forget to write to your relatives, friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you state your ideas and aims to associates, they then know what they can do to help you. Get busy working on mutual projects. Try a novel way of entertaining others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talks about finances with co-workers bring forth right ideas in a clever way, you make an excellent impression on bigwigs. Show more common sense and you improve your position with others. Make plans for travel.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov. 21) You can now gain greater understanding than was formerly possible. Right plans will enable you to expand. Contact out-of-towners so you gain knowledge from them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find the right systems for handling jobs ahead of you with great efficiency and speed, and pay more attention to details of work. Making life more harmonious with mate is fine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Reach a better understanding with one you consider to be an associate, as well as with all others with whom you have had words of some sort. Know what your position is in the business world. Improve.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are now able to assist others in a most worthwhile way and this will bring you fine benefits in the future. Show co-workers that you like to work with them. Avoid one who drinks too much.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have every opportunity to impress others with your fine qualities and capabilities today and they will want to be connected with you in the future. Enjoy social activities as much as possible. Make the right contacts.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people with much understanding of others as well have a highly romantic bent, particularly when there is a Full Moon. The opposite sex can give much help to your child in career matters because of the unique charm here. Th field of merchandising is particularly good, as well as the fields of entertainment, cultural arts, etc. Send to schools of own choice. Don't try to force college unless desired. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TV RULES: (Q.) I have an unreasonable mother. She will not let me watch television at night except on Friday and Saturday. I do my work around the house and have a "B" average but when I ask why I can't watch TV my mother says because she said so. Is there any way I can reason with her?—Restricted in Pittsburgh.

(A.) Two nights a week of TV watching for entertainment is a reasonable quota for a teen-ager.

There should be exceptions when there is a special of educational value to young people. I believe your mother would be reasonable about such situations.

LIMITS: (Q.) My mother is a compulsive worrier. She waits up for me. She and my father want to have complete say about all my dates and who they're with, although I am 18 and in college.

They want to limit me to two nights during the week and one on weekends. They want to count studying at the library or attending a lecture as a date.

I do this nearly every night with the boy I like. In college a girl does things like that.

Last summer I worked away from home for two months. I went and came as I wished and dated as I wished—nearly every night—and had no bad results. But at home they don't trust me. How can I get them to?—Freshman in Massachusetts.

(A.) I don't think you have lost their trust. They just want to be in charge as long as you are living at home.

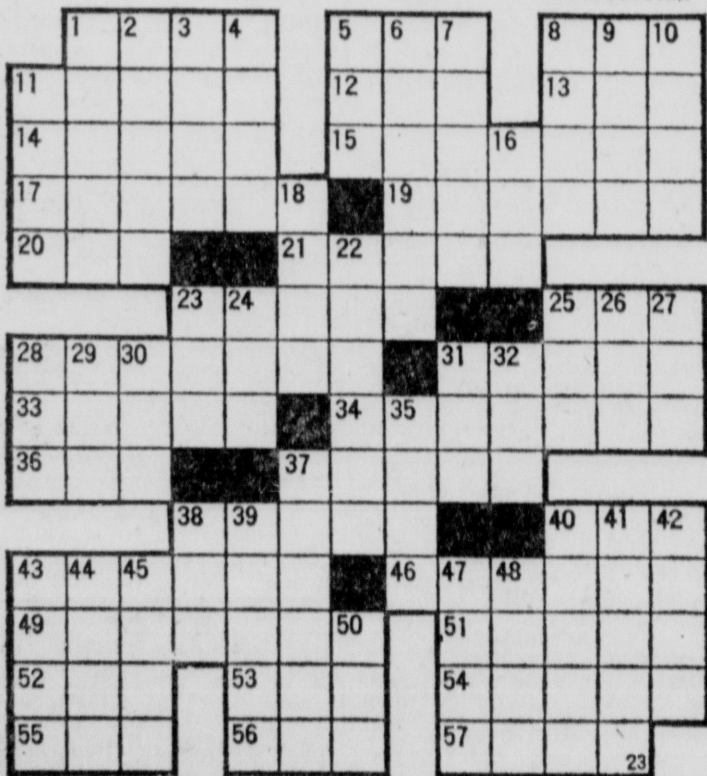

The answer is to sit down with them for a mature discussion. Assure them that you certainly want to respect their desires but that the "dates" you have for study and lectures are really a part of your college course, and that without them you would not get full value for your educational dollar.

Ask them to agree with you on guidelines for your dates and other activities. And when the guidelines are set, abide by them. I believe they will be able to adjust to your needs when they understand them.

POWs — Impeccable Timing

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports," with impeccable timing, broadcast Tuesday night the first of a two-part review of the plight of American military men held as prisoners of war by the North Vietnamese.

It came on the heels of Senate passage of a plan for a phased withdrawal of American troops from Indochina combined with a phased release of the captured men.

Walter Cronkite was host of the documentary — the second program will be shown next Tuesday. The initial hour, was a summary of the complicated and stubborn impasse. Much propaganda film of the prisoners was shown and there were also portions of taped statements by President Nixon on the subject.

The program dwelt at length with the number of men held, some for as long as seven years. President Nixon at one point mentioned 1,600 men but others believe there may be as few as 450.

The program was given some balance by showing South Vietnamese treatment of North a week-long Gary Grant, Humphrey Bogart or Garbo were shots of the infamous festival or a week of monster "tiger cages" where these men tales. ABC now has adopted the were held, and Cronkite stated device, collecting films that at the time of capture, produced by David O. Selznick, South Vietnamese were perhaps all of which have been around tougher on prisoners than their television for years.

The first in ABC's Selznick festival was Tuesday night's "Intermizio," which introduced tightening days, is finding ways Ingrid Bergman to American audiences 32 years ago. More bottles — particularly rebottling than anything, the old movie of old, nonvintage movies, demonstrated anew the extraordinary charm of Leslie Howard, who, plays her married by category and coming up with lover.

State Home Builders Elect Hankin President

ALBANY Sam Hankin of Poughkeepsie, has been named president of the New York State Builders Association. The selection was made at a meeting of the association's Board of directors held in Albany recently.

Hankin, who for years has been one of the leading builders of the Hudson Valley, is a past president of the Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley and a director of the National Association of Home Builders, Washington, D.C. Hankin's career as a home builder spans a 30-year period. During this time, his organization has built nearly 5,500 homes on Long Island and in Dutchess and Rockland Counties.

A graduate of the School of Finance and Commerce of St. John's University, Brooklyn, Hankin is a member of the City of Poughkeepsie zoning Board of Appeals. He is a member of Temple Beth-el, Poughkeepsie and the Harding Club. In the past he has been extremely active in the Boy Scout movement. He is a former district commissioner of the New York City Scouting Council. In 1952, the Hankin family was honored as the "Scouting Family of the Year" at a ceremony at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City.

As the head of the 3,000-member New York State Builders Association, Hankin will act as spokesman for the home building industry in New York State. As is customary in both the state and national builders associations, Hankin has progressed to the top position through the posts of secretary, treasurer and vice-president. He is a former member of the legislative and banking committees of the state unit.

Hankin, who resides at 20 Monell Avenue, Poughkeepsie, with his wife, Sylvia, is the father of three sons, Robert, Stuart and Gerard, and a daughter, Lynne.
